MACHINE GUN BANDITS GET $20,000 IN CAFE

Women Lose Cash and Gems.

Armed with a machine gun, a shotgun, and revolvers, the bandits responsible for the recent roadhouse and gambling saloon at 2356 West Lake street Sunday morning, obtained $20,000, it was learned today. The robbery became known as the "M. D." when Mrs. M. D. Masotti, 25 years old, who was one of forty patrons in the saloon, was taken to the police station.

Police officers from the Warren station, which is less than two miles away, had left the saloon less than five minutes before the bandits entered. Three of the bandits were taken to the police station, and the others were taken to the Warren station.

No Lights Displayed. The first floor of the place to which the bandits were taken, was a small room, which was empty. The bandits were taken to the Warren station, and the others were taken to the Warren station.

ALDERMEN HAVE SURPRISE FOR MIKE FAHERTY

Can Start to Dig on Return from Europe

Michael J. Faherty, head of the board of local improvements, when he returns from Europe this week end, will find ready an almost complete set of specifications for the subway he expects to dig through Chicago's loop under State street.

The plans, drafted by Maj. R. F. Keller Jr., engineer for the council transportation committee, in conjunction with engineers of the elevated line and utility companies, were made public yesterday by Chairman Joseph B. McDonough (18th). His report astonished the city hall where it had been believed the local engineers were resting on their oars, waiting for Mr. Faherty to act.

"We will have the whole program ready to lay before Mr. Faherty," Ald. McDonough announced. "Our engineers and his will immediately get together; he will incorporate in the plan the ideas he got in Europe, and then we're ready to go."

Tube for L. Trains. Mr. Keller's plan, although partly based on past studies, is entirely new. Ald. McDonough said. It calls for a tube or "lower level street" for elevated cars, linking with the present "L" lines at North Avenue and 16th streets, carrying four tracks between Randolph and Polk streets and two at each end. A continuous mezzanine level, over the tube, will be on the pavement, would extend from Lake to 8th streets. The plan also outlines a system of interlocking tubes under other streets to be built after completion of the State street unit.

The plan submits detailed recommendations for the State street tube as to the relocation of gas and water pipes, electric and telephone conduits, and sewers; specifications for platforms and cars; use of freight tunnels, and studies on operation and handling of passenger.

Mr. Faherty, it was learned, may possibly see the Keller report before arriving in Chicago as Ald. McDonough said. Several other council members plan to meet his ship docking in New York Friday. The reception group will leave Chicago tomorrow, carrying the report with them.

Announcement of the new subway plan yesterday was the second important development in the transit situation during the day. Ald. E. I. Funkhouser's subcommittee, an hour before, having formally recommended to the transportation committee its draft of four of the five new transit bills it has been working on for nearly six weeks.

The bills approved were those providing for (1) consolidation of the "L" and surface lines; (2) a regulatory district commission; (3) a terminal permit; and (4) amendment to the cities and villages act to allow issuance of a fixed term permit up to 40 years.

Awake Faherty's Advice. Final action on the fifth bill, that authorizing the city to build subways, was withheld pending Mr. Faherty's return when difficulties arising over the relative power of the council and board of local improvements on construction work are to be ironed out.

Agreement on the 40 year limitation for term permits stood out as the most vital step taken at the meeting yesterday. The present limit is 20 years but at an earlier session the aldermen had voted to remove the restriction altogether, thus allowing the city to grant a franchise for 50, 75, or even 99 years. A storm of protest followed and after reconsidering yesterday, the committee decided to set the limit at 40 years.

Should the bills as drafted be approved by the transit committee and passed by the legislature, the city would have a right to grant either terminable or 40 year fixed term permits.

Ald. McDonough explained that he will call a meeting of the full committee next Tuesday morning to consider the four bills. Invitations will then be sent to the companies to come in for a series of conferences. After reaching an agreement with them, the committee will then appeal to Gov. Small to call a special session of the legislature to act on the legislation as revised. It is hoped that such a session may be held before next summer.

In a general way, the new Keller plan, Ald. McDonough explained, conforms to that proposed by the Brunt-Tyson citizens' committee recommendations made a year ago, as well as to the plan of the Citizens' Committee.

U. S. CHRISTMAS CLUB BANKS WILL RETURN $501,336,000 SAVINGS

New York, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—S. F. Rawlin, president of the Christmas club, issued reports today setting forth the coming disbursements to be made by banks throughout the United States.

According to Mr. Rawlin's figures, $501,336,000 will be distributed to $500,000 members of the Christmas club. This figure represents an increased savings over 1926 of about $102,000,000, or 26 per cent.

New York, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Selection of San Francisco as the site for the 1928 Republican national convention was approved today by Charles D. Hilles of New York, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, who "would not be surprised" if this choice were ratified next month.

Hilles added that Chicago, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Kansas City, and other centers undoubtedly would make a strong bid to obtain the convention.

Heroes Cheer New Honors to Lindbergh

(Picture on back page.) Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, whose solo flight from New York to Paris last May intrigued the world and who was acclaimed here and abroad as "America's ambassador of good will," scored another triumph tonight. He received from the President of the United States the Hubbard gold medal of the National Geographic society, a trophy presented to only seven other men.

Col. Lindbergh was honored as he stood in the midst of a dozen or more flyers who had made aviation history in recent months. He was the same smiling, calm, imperturbable Lindbergh who was received by kings and statesmen in foreign lands and who was feted as a conquering hero when he returned home.

Official Washington was well represented in the audience of 6,000 people that packed the Washington Auditorium, where the ceremonies were held. Justices of the Supreme court, members of the cabinet, of the diplomatic corps, and of congress were in attendance, all joining in the cheering and applause.

The exercises were simple, but impressive. Seated around Col. Lindbergh on the platform were Orville Wright, aviation pioneer; Harry F. Guggenheim of the Guggenheim Foundation, and practically all of the American airmen of recent flight fame.

Ruth Elder was there, and she shared cheers with Lindbergh. It was an appropriate setting for Col. Lindbergh, who was accompanied on this occasion, as he was when he came back to Washington in June, by his mother, who landed here today from New York in an airplane flown by her former son.

Coolidge Praises Lindbergh. President Coolidge in presenting the medal to Lindbergh said: "How the hero of this exploit was revealed, not as a reckless adventurer but as an able, sober minded, modest young man of high and unselfish purpose has now passed into history. What he did to strengthen the cordial relations between our people and Europe is well known."

"With a clear conception of public service he determined to capitalize his fame, not for selfish aggrandizement but for the promotion of the art he loves. This courageous, clear headed, sure handed youth whose character had withstood the glare of publicity and the acid test of hero worshiping adulation, became the apostle of aeronautics. He dedicated himself to advance the science and practice of aviation."

Today was the first time Col. Lindbergh and the other world famous flyers had assembled in one group, and for most of them it was the first chance to get acquainted.

A luncheon at the White House was in the state dining room at noon. A large crowd of spectators greeted the flyers as they arrived at the portico. Col. Lindbergh and Miss Elder especially receiving warm applause. President Coolidge occupied the head of the table and Col. Lindbergh sat opposite. The President escorted Miss Elder to the dining room and chatted with her before and during luncheon.

Noted Flyers Attend. Among the flyers in attendance to see Lindbergh receive the Hubbard medal were Lieuts. Lester J. Maitland and Albert Hegenberger, first to hop from San Francisco to Hawaii; Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, who flew from New York to Germany; Miss Elder and George Haldeman, Bert Acosta, Berndt Balchen and George Norville, who flew with Commander Byrd to France; William S. Brock and Edward H. Schlee, who crossed the Atlantic to London and then flew by successive stages across Europe and Asia to Japan.

LINDBERGH AND RUTH MEET AND EXCHANGE FLIGHT COMPLIMENTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—When President Coolidge met Miss Elder at the White House today, the minds of both turned toward food.

"Well," said Mr. Coolidge, "everybody's here. Suppose we go to lunch."

"That's good," replied Miss Elder. "I'm hungry myself."

A few minutes before, Miss Elder had met Charles A. Lindbergh, who, upon shaking hands, said: "I've been looking forward with anticipation to meeting you. You are a very plucky girl."

"Your anticipation could not possibly have equalled mine. You inspired the flight I made and you have contributed a great deal to the cause of aviation."

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—The happy mood of Ruth Elder, who shared applause with Lindbergh at the White House reception, changed when she was asked how she liked the sobriquets tacked on her by admiring friends in Paris. Miss Elder was unaware of the meaning of the Parisian nickname, "the happy midwife," until she was told today that it meant a small salaried shop girl.

"Why, the dirty bums," she exclaimed, "did they say that about me?"

"How about the 'flying sapper' nickname?" asked a reporter.

"That makes me mad, too," she responded indignantly. During the day Miss Elder changed her costume five times.

Police Accuse Morals Sleuth of Indecency

While the Rev. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, was announcing last evening plans for his conference of anti-vigilance campaigners to bring about an awakening of the civic conscience to raise the standard of public morals, the police were broadcasting a report that they had arrested the chief investigator for Mr. Yarrow's association.

A man who gave his name as Fred Billings, 4080 Sheridan road, but who the police say is A. F. Bond, chief investigator for Mr. Yarrow, was in a cell in the county jail last night unable to raise a $1,500 bail bond. He had been arrested Saturday night on a charge of indecent exposure and he will be arraigned before Judge Matthew Hartigan on Nov. 22. Mr. Yarrow said last night that he believed Billings to be his investigator, Bond.

In the county jail last night, however, the prisoner still refused to admit he was Bond, because, as he put it, if the underworld knew Billings and Bond to be the same person it would end his effectiveness as a vice crusader.

Police Tell of Arrest. Sergts. Frank Weiner and Joseph Keese of the Town Hall station, who made the arrest, say they watched for an hour or more while Billings turned the lights on and off in his room as he stood in the nude in front of his window. John Taylor, a neighbor, will be a witness, the police say. Taylor, dressed in his wife's clothing, watched Billings' antics, it was stated.

Billings said it was either a mistake or a deliberate frame up because of his crusading among vice resorts. He said he was merely taking his Saturday night bath.

Billings also thought perhaps his activities in raising a stag party Friday night where 200 arrests were made, might have had something to do with his arrest. He said that in his 5 years or more as an investigator he has made many enemies by reporting immoralities to the authorities.

"I will not concede that Bond is guilty until he is so proved by competent evidence," said the Rev. Mr. Yarrow. "Of course if he is guilty I would be the first to insist on severe punishment."

Yarrow Criticizes Police. The Rev. Mr. Yarrow issued a statement yesterday complaining about the lack of police cooperation to his complaints and Chief of Police Hughes countered with a charge that most of the professional reformers are inane and care not about the reputation of the city in which they live, but are interested only in making a living.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty and C. Wayland Brooks yesterday asked a jury to impose a fine penalty on Roland H. Gaskell, former sergeant of the county highway police, accused of attacking a 13-year-old girl. The jury was selected yesterday in Judge Emanuel Eiler's criminal court and the victim will testify tomorrow. She says she was first beaten, then intimidated with a revolver and assaulted.

TOLL OF BLAST MAY REACH 50; HUNDREDS HURT

(Pictures on back page.) Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Bursting with the fury of an inferno, a giant gas tank in the Reedsdale street plant of the Equitable Gas company, exploded today, leaving hundreds of injured, a death list hourly mounting, scores missing and destruction running into the millions.

Twenty-eight are known dead, 17 workmen at the plant are missing and more than 500 injured are in or received treatment at hospitals and 5,000 are homeless.

May Never Be Found. Of the missing, seven are employees of the gas works and ten were employees of the Ritter Conley company. The latter, with three other men now listed among the dead, were working on top of the superstructure of the gas tank. They may never be found. Eight more are believed to have been buried in the ruins of the Pittsburgh Clay Pot company and by the time a complete search is made, it is believed, many more will be found.

In all, it is feared, 40 to 50 more bodies may be in the wreckage.

For miles in every direction the explosion was felt. Buildings in a large area on the north side, the "point" district and the entire downtown were damaged, those nearest being literally broken open.

Sparks from blow torches of workmen repairing a supposedly empty tank was given as the cause of the blast. There was a blunder by some one in ordering the workmen to repair the largest of three tanks while it was at least partly filled with gas.

Flame Shocks Upward. The men employed by the Ritter Conley company, builders of the tank, were working at the top, to close a leak. One workman was using a blow torch when the huge basin, which stood 75 feet above the ground, was blown apart and a great sheet of flame shot a thousand feet upward.

A second tank holding 4,000 cubic feet of gas and situated about 200 feet away was crushed in, its contents ignited, and a second mighty blast went up.

A third tank, several hundred feet distant, of 600,000 cubic feet capacity and partly filled, was burst asunder by the force of the explosion and its contents added to the vast breath of flame that could be seen for miles.

Six Buildings Crushed. Six buildings of the Union Paint company were crushed by the blast. The walls were blown in and the roofs of the entire group of structures fell, imprisoning workmen under the debris.

Tenements along Reedsdale street were virtually demolished. Walls buckled, roofs fell in, and windows with frames were blown from their fastenings. Many women and children in these tenements were badly injured.

The crash of rending metal, the jangle of shattered glass in windows within a radius of five miles, the rasping of broken timbers, and the rumble of crumbling walls, and then the shrieks of dying, the groans of the hundreds of injured, and the anguished cries of fugitives that fled from their ruined homes—these were the discordant sounds and scenes throughout the doomed Manchester district when the tanks let go.

For five minutes after the explosion the population of Pittsburgh was stunned. Everywhere through the downtown section of the city were victims of broken windows who ran bleeding through the streets.

They came the wild appeals for help from the scene of ruin and death. Calls to the police stations and hospitals were made in frantic cries. Scarcely had the echoes of the blast died away when several thousand persons streamed along Reedsdale, Wolensdale, Leacock, and other streets in the area of the explosion. Many were bleeding from jagged, ghastly wounds and pleading for aid.

In the homes within a half mile of the tanks were many too badly hurt to see. Crawling to windows and doors they implored assistance from the mob that filled the streets.

The cries of the wounded and the shouts of the fugitives were mingled with the hurrying clang of hurrying ambulances, police patrols and fire apparatus. Police and firemen rushed to the scene, met the fleeing panic-stricken mobs, admonishing those who were able to return to their homes as all danger was over.

When the ambulances reached the immediate scene they found many of those who had escaped serious injury trying to aid the victims. Many, weak from loss of blood, had fallen to the sidewalks. Children in the Manchester district, on their way to school, were in the path of the blast and were showered with glass, broken bricks and twisted metal that fell among them like shrapnel, injuring scores of little ones and causing others to stampede.

Mothers Seek Children.
Many ran to their homes, finding only broken walls and their families groping with bloodstained faces seeking a means of escape. Mothers seeking their children soon filled the streets and their pitiful calls for aid added to the scenes of sickening terror.

An hour after the explosion victims were still being rushed to the hospitals. Many occupants of the homes had been crushed underneath the garbled furniture, broken mirrors and twisted partitions, and either crawled to windows and doorways or were found pinned in the wreckage by rescuers.

Every available man soon was cleaning away the debris. Bodies were being taken from the wreckage of the Union Paint company's plant. The largest death toll was in that plant.

Hospitals Quickly Filled.
North side hospitals were filled with victims. Trucks, taxicabs, police patrols, horse wagons of fire companies were pressed into service to carry injured to hospitals. Emergency quarters were hastily improvised near the scene to give first aid. Telephone communication with the north side was paralyzed and to all parts of the city it was hampered.

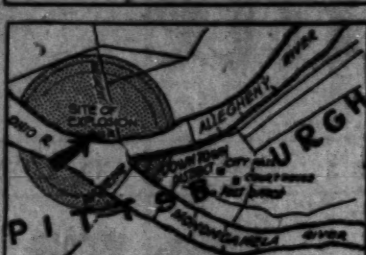

More than a hundred who had suffered bruises and lacerations were released from the hospitals as soon as their injuries were dressed and almost without exception they returned home at once. A ghastly sight they made as they streamed down the hill from Ridge avenue, heads swathed with bloody bandages, arms in slings, and faces wearing grotesque red stained masks of court plaster.

There were 465 injured treated in Pittsburgh hospitals. Hundreds of others were treated by physicians or given first aid at emergency hospitals.

EYEWITNESS ACCOUNTS

Battalion Fire Chief Daniel Jones, of engine company 47, Fulton street, said the entire district was rocked when the gas tank explosion occurred today. He and his men were sitting in the fire house when the blast oc-

Wrecked by Blast

Section of Pittsburgh where explosion of gas tank took a toll of at least 28 lives and demolished a section of the city almost a mile in circumference.

He declared some of his men were knocked to the floor and others were cut by flying glass as every window in the building was shattered. "The boys hurriedly regained their feet," he said, "and leaped upon the already moving fire apparatus. As we reached the street great waves of black smoke went up the street and there was a whining noise in the air."

When the smoke cleared away the chief saw his house across the street a mass of wreckage. He didn't stop to see if any of his family were injured.

The chief described how the injured began to reel to the streets from their houses and how the firemen picked them up from the street. "The boys worked like maniacs," he said, "although many were injured themselves, while additional fire companies were ordered to the scene."

Mrs. Louise Charnay, a resident of Reedsdale street, said the floor of her house seemed to lift and she was thrown out into the yard. "When I got to my feet everything was black," she said. "Everybody in front of me was running and screaming. And then I fainted."

Patrolman Fred Zimmer, who carried a dozen women and children from a hotel in Ridge avenue and a row of buildings nearby, said most of the people in these structures were stunned by the blast.

"The only one who didn't seem to mind the whole thing was a little baby," he said. "He cried softly in a crib on the second floor while his mother was taken to a hospital. The child escaped without a scratch."

Police reserves were called out late today to control the milling mobs in front of the Allegheny county morgue in downtown Pittsburgh, where the bodies of 21 victims of the north side gas explosion rested.

Thousands of persons, many merely curious, fought to get into the death house. When Coroner W. J. McGregor's appeal to the mob to be fair and permit those seeking missing relatives and friends to enter went unheeded the police were summoned.

Finally the crowd was informed that none of the bodies would be placed in the chapel cases and a majority of the crowd turned away. Some, however, their faces marked with lines of anxiety, stood firm and these were admitted. They were taken to the embalming rooms in groups. One woman ran screaming from the room. "That's the beaver. I know him. My husband must be dead, too, for they worked together."

Within a short time after the hand of disaster fell upon the lower north side district here today, four investigations of the fatal gas blast were under way. Representatives of the Pennsylvania public service commission, Allegheny county and city of Pittsburgh joined forces with Equitable Gas company officials in an effort to learn just what caused the huge gas storage tank to explode.

The investigators could do little until the debris near the tank had been cleared away. In the meantime the secret of the blast rested with thirteen dead men, all steel workers, who were making repairs on the tank when it went up.

City investigators were told to make a survey of other gas storage works within Pittsburgh, with a view to having them removed to outlying regions.

trous north side gas blast were thirteen men, who were at work on the storage tank when it exploded. These men, listed as ironworkers, included M. D. Wallace, Chicago; H. H. Norman, Farrell, Pa.; George Penfield, Enon, Pa.; Fred Bishop, Knoxville, Tenn., and E. J. Carroll, Freedom, Pa. The others were residents of the Pittsburgh district.

A vivid description of the explosion was given by Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, who was driving his automobile over the Manchester bridge at the junction of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, in full view of the blast when it let go.

"The great steel tank rose hundreds of feet into the air like a great balloon," he said. "It remained intact for an instant and then burst like a great fire works bomb. As it let go with a terrific roar, the hundreds of tons of steel went hurtling through the air as so much pasteboard and then the crash of buildings and glass filled the air."

CITY MAY FROWN ON SOUTH PARK AIRPORT PLAN

That the city administration will turn a deaf ear to the request of the south park board for permission to build an airport on the lake front between 18th and 31st streets was indicated yesterday by Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe.

"If there is need for an airport here the city should build it," Mr. Wolfe declared. "I am opposed to the delegation of the city's authorities, duties, and properties to any other taxing body."

Mayer Thompson is an enthusiastic booster for aviation development, and I am sure he will give his full support to the project if it is found feasible. He is making a thorough study of the proposal, however, and I don't know what he will decide."

The commissioner pointed out that the city already owns the municipal landing field at Cicero avenue.

Joseph Stein Is Sued for Divorce in Family Tangle

Mrs. Annette Stein, charged by her husband with heavy losses at bridge and poker, yesterday filed a cross-bill for divorce against Joseph Stein, mortgage broker and former bank president. The bill, drawn by Attorney Irving Eisenman, alleges cruelty. Her counter-attack in the domestic litigation indicated that reconciliation efforts of Judge Joseph Sabath failed.

WALKING

Now—a three-way lens
so You can watch Your Step

—for distance, for reading, for walking

Almer Coe & Company now introduce a reading and distance lens—through which one may see his feet and his step. Science has finally overcome the one feature objectionable in all other bifocals, and UNIVIS is the result. The Univis Lens permits one to see where he steps as naturally as he would if he needed no glasses. This is the greatest improvement since the invisible fused bifocals were brought out by Almer Coe & Company twenty years ago. Almer Coe & Company recommend Univis lenses and assume full responsibility for their successful operation and performance. If you are wearing bifocals, let your next pair be UNIVIS. If you have not yet worn them let your first pair be UNIVIS. Step in today and see them.

ADMIRAL EBERLE
WARNS U. S. NAVY
IS INADEQUATE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—American sea power was described as "inadequate" for national security by Admiral Edward W. Eberle in relinquishing his post today as chief of naval operations to become head of the navy general board.

After four years and four months as ranking officer of the naval establishment Admiral Eberle outlined his opinion as to American sea power in these words: "I feel that congress and the com-try more fully understand the needs of the navy than ever before, and that they realize our present sea power is inadequate for the security of our nation. As I relinquish the duties of this office I am happy in the belief that the navy has the confidence of our people and the confidence of our congress.

Admiral Eberle was succeeded as chief of operations by Admiral Charles F. Hughes, until recently commander in chief of the United States fleet, the change in offices being occasioned by the retirement for age of Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, who was serving as head of the general board.

Secretary Wilbur praised all three officers, saying they "have mighty fine records." He recalled the service of Admiral Jones on the general board.

ORDERED TO PAY
WIFE FOR CHILD

Roscoe C. Price, auditor for the Chicago Civic Opera company, yesterday was ordered by Superior Judge John J. Sullivan to pay $50 to his estranged wife, Juliette Price, a chorus girl, for the support of their daughter, Jean, 6 years old. A fight over the custody of the child was continued until Dec. 12. Zona Gale, author, according to the wife, is interested in having the father obtain the child so she, the writer, can adopt her after the pending divorce case is settled. Miss Gale denies this charge.

MME. SCHWIMMER
BOTH VICTOR AND
LOSER IN COURT

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter yesterday set aside an order denying citizenship to Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, pacifist lecturer and author, following the presentation of a petition by Attorney William B. Gemmill, representing Mme. Schwimmer, that the order had been procured by irregular practices by Fred J. Schlotfeldt, United States naturalization director of this district.

A new order denying citizenship to Mme. Schwimmer was entered after additional testimony as to her radio talks and letters on pacifism were introduced into evidence. Attorney Gemmill announced he will take the case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The petition of Attorney Gemmill charged that Schlotfeldt procured an order from Judge Carpenter declaring that Mme. Schwimmer was totally disqualified to become a citizen after the court had instructed counsel for both sides to prepare a complete statement of facts of the case and then an order that Mme. Schwimmer was qualified to become a citizen with the exception of her refusal to bear arms would be entered.

CAROL PLOTTER

Rumanian Trial Ends in
Vote of 3 to 2.

(Picture on back page.)

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 15.—(Special Tribune Press Service.)—Former Undersecretary of State Mihail Manoliescu was acquitted at 2 o'clock this morning by a vote of three to two by the five members of the court martial which had him for alleged implication in a plot to place former Crown Prince Carol, now an exile in Paris, on the Rumanian throne. A large crowd gathered near the court, cheering wildly when the verdict was announced.

The trial, which for five days has been the center of the very depths of Rumanian press campaign which has been the dictatorship of Gen. Averescu, came to a close late this morning.

Gen. Averescu introduced evidence to show that the late King Ferdinand himself, early in 1926, saw Prince Carol in Paris, when the prince imposed "conditions" for his return to Rumania, which angered the king, who broke off the interview saying, "It is not for you to make the conditions; it is I who will make them."

Prof. Nicholas Jorga, leader of the party bearing his name, an historian and for years the tutor of the exiled Prince Carol, also was an attorney for the prisoner. He said "One-fourth of the country is against Prince Carol, but Rumania is 75 per cent Carolist. If this military court convicts M. Manoliescu the prestige of the army will be damaged."

Pass Law Like Mussolini's.
The national defense act, providing penal servitude and heavy fines for persons who "by word or deed" directly or indirectly seek to overthrow the present monarchical regime, was adopted by the chamber of deputies yesterday. M. Maniu, leader of the national peasant party, bitterly protested against the law and warned that the opposition "would not recognize the constitutionality of its enactment."

Following the peasant leader's protest, during which he was hissed by the government parties, all the opposition deputies left the chamber. The law also passed the senate. It is similar to that passed by Premier Mussolini when the parliamentary system of government still reigned in Italy, and is designed to extract the teeth of the opposition and entrench the government more solidly.

USE 'FIREWORKS' AS SCHOOL BOARD DOZES AT TRIAL

Miller Traces England's Plot to World War.

American history writers have so distorted the causes of the American revolution, in the opinion of counsel for the school board, that the attorneys found it necessary yesterday to read the Declaration of Independence, reciting the colonists' complaints against King George III to the school trustees conducting the trial of the suspended superintendent, William McAndrew.

As Tom Sullivan, one of Mr. McAndrew's prosecutors, read the stirring document, he strove to awaken the trustees, who had been dozing through the reading of a ponderous statement by Charles Grant Miller, New York newspaperman and magazine writer. Some of the board members opened their eyes and leaned forward in their chairs again.

An indictment of tyranny. "We've been hearing so much about these new histories, in which these British professors try to tell us that there was no just cause for the revolution, that I want Mr. Sullivan to read the Declaration of Independence, so that you'll know whether there was a just complaint or not," said Frank Righelmer, chief attorney for the board in the McAndrew trial.

And then Mr. Sullivan read the memorable document, with its long list of abuses, oppressions and misdeeds of the tyrant, George III. Mr. Miller, who described himself as president of the Patriots League to Perpetuate American History, cited hundreds of specific instances in which he declared that American history writers had taken erroneous views, and pro-British views, of the principle tenets of our national history.

Russell Testifies Tomorrow. One other witness, called as an "expert" on how the English Speaking Union and other forces from Great Britain are propagandizing the United States, will appear at the resumption of the trial tomorrow afternoon. He is Charles Edward Russell, author and editor, also of New York and an associate of Mr. Miller.

Mr. Russell was appointed by President Wilson during the war to serve as commissioner to Great Britain for the United States commission for public information, and as such, he said at the trial rooms yesterday, he served in the distribution of propaganda, both in England and in this country. At that time he learned of the highly organized program of Anglicizing the United States, Mr. Russell said.

Mr. Miller's account of the use of British influence was delivered to the board in a level, monotonous tone, but his testimony was filled with specific examples of the charges made by Mayor William Hale Thompson that American textbooks are filled with British propaganda.

Started New York Exposure. It was through the exposure published by Mr. Miller in a New York newspaper five years ago that an investigation of textbooks was begun in that city which resulted in the casting out of objectionable ones, the witness said. When he learned of Mayor Thompson's program against the same books, he and Mr. Russell decided to offer their assistance, and, after counselling with the mayor, brought their evidence to the McAndrew trial.

As an evidence of his belief in Mayor Thompson's sincerity in his war on King George, there is this excerpt from Mr. Miller's testimony: "Here in Chicago I hear this sort of patriotism, put into action, sneered at as 'politics in the schools.' As to that, I say, I want to see politics, patriotic, virile, American politics, active enough in our school boards to wipe British politics out of our school books."

Mr. Miller delivered his severest indictment against four authors whose history works, he said, are in use in the public schools of Chicago. They are David Saville Muzzey, who already has sued one witness in the trial, John T. Gorman, for libel; Carlton Hayes of

MELLON OPTIMISTIC IN SCANNING CURRENT BUSINESS HORIZON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Secretary Mellon took an optimistic view today of current business conditions, indicating that, in his opinion, there was no sign of impending depression that would affect the nation's prosperity.

The secretary of the treasury pictured the situation as spotty rather than depressed, and referred to the soft coal industry as a case in point. As to the steel industry Mr. Mellon felt that it was showing a definite improvement and that the industry was getting along all right.

While a slowing down of business in some industries may mean a drop in tax payments from these, the secretary feels that this may be largely made up by the payments from other industries which have been going at a strong pace.

Columbia university, Prof. Willis M. West of the University of Minnesota, and Andrew C. McLaughlin, head of the American History department of the University of Chicago.

These four were among a hundred American history professors entertained by the British government, Mr. Miller testified, at which, to the clink of champagne glasses, they all celebrated the success of their efforts to suppress from American histories any passages derogatory to Great Britain.

This banquet, held at the Savoy hotel in London in 1921, was such a magnificent affair, the witness said, that members of parliament protested against the huge bill for food and liquor, provoking from a representative of the government the statement that the money was well spent. In the parliamentary discussion the Americans were referred to as "Anglo-American professors," Mr. Miller declared.

The witness traced the beginning of Britain's effort to "make the United States an integral part of the British empire" back to the beginning of the war. During the great conflict, he said, propaganda flowed unrestrained, excused by its distributors as necessary to promote good will among the allied warring nations. But it was not abated at the close of the war. Rather it was spread with much greater effort and expense, Miller declared.

Soon after the war new history textbooks appeared—written by the men later feted in England—and, in the opinion of Mr. Miller, "the defamation of our nation's founders that had suddenly appeared in the altered texts is indeed astounding."

John Hancock became "just a smugler," the witness said, Samuel Adams, he declared, was pictured as a "shrewd, hardboiled politician," and Patrick Henry as "a gay, unprosperous, and unknown country lawyer."

As to the causes of the revolution, historians set them forth in this wise, the witness declared:

"It was a debatable question whether the abuses of the king's ministers justified armed resistance."—D. B. Muzzey, an American history, 1926-1928.

"There is little use trying to learn whose fault it was that the war began; as in most quarrels, the blame is laid by one party on the other."—McLaughlin & Van Tyne, history of the United States for schools, 1919.

"The government oppression that caused the war was 'made in Germany.'"—C. H. Ward, 1919.

The propagandizing has gone so far, Mr. Miller testified, that some American historians are teaching that George III was a German. The king was born in London, the witness said, and his war program was supported by the parliament, the press, and part of the people.

Then launching into his denunciation of Muzzey's history—or histories, he said it had been reprinted five times in six years—Miller testified that Muzzey had originally included a brazenly pro-British version of his revolution in his history, and then, when a torrent of objection was rained down upon him, Muzzey changed the history, inserting many such phrases as "in the eyes of King George," "in the eyes of the loyalists," "in the British view," and so forth.

A movement is afoot in America, and has gained considerable headway, said the witness, to have a new national holiday to overshadow the Fourth of July.

"One of a dozen or more British propaganda agencies created in London and operating in our country is the Magna Charta Day association," testified Miller. "It advocates our national observance of June 15—Independence Day—as the national day of free government, instead of the Fourth of July."

Mr. Miller, at Mr. Righelmer's request, produced a letter from Superintendent McAndrew, refusing Miller's request that the Chicago school children be permitted to contribute to the Old Ironsides fund.

Peking Dictator Beaten by Feng in Three Day Battle

BY JOHN POWELL.

(Copyright, 1927, by The Chicago Tribune.)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—The Christian general, Feng Yu-hsiang, won another decisive victory over the troops of Chang Tso-lin, Peking dictator. After a three day battle in southwestern Shantung province, he captured Tsao-chowfu. This opens the way for a direct advance down the Yellow river toward Tsinan, capital of Shantung province.

Reports from the Nanking headquarters state that Gen. Feng also is besieging the town of Suchowfu, located in northern Kiangsu province, which is causing Marshal Chang to withdraw all the Fengtien troops inside the boundaries of Shantung province.

Will Push War on Chang. The nationalists, with their prestige enhanced as a result of the capture of Hankow and the elimination of Gen. Tang Shen-tse, radical leader, declare it is their intention to push the fight against Marshal Chang, regardless of the approaching winter. Sun Fo, the finance minister, is in Shanghai raising money to finance the northern campaign.

Dr. C. C. Wu, the nationalist foreign minister, announced the appointment of a provisional government composed of civilians at Hankow in order to avoid another militarist dictatorship.

Get Big Opium Shipment. According to British sources the nationalist government today received a shipment of forty-four chests of Turkish opium, which is being sold through the official government opium bureau. The value of the shipment is $1,250,000. The report alleges the opium was brought from Turkey on a Japanese ship to Wouung, at the mouth of the Yangtze river, and then carried to Shanghai aboard a Chinese gunboat.

Herrmann's Suit Against Lincoln Park Dismissed

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday dismissed for want of jurisdiction injunction proceedings filed last summer by U. J. Herrmann, Mayor Thompson's chief crusader against alleged pro-British library books, against the commissioners of Lincoln park. Herrmann sought to restrain the park commissioners from interfering with mooring of his yacht in Belmont harbor. Judge Wilkerson ruled that the right to regulate the Belmont harbor properly belonged to the Lincoln park commissioners.

Reestablishment of diplomatic relations was provided for in a pact signed at Angora early this year.

LIBRARY BOARD LAUDS BRITONS; REBUFS MAYOR

Pigeonholes His Request for Resignations.

Members of the Chicago public library board yesterday pigeonholed Mayor Thompson's request that they resign because of their refusal to help him in his campaign to chase King George III out of the book stalls.

Furthermore, they issued a statement declaring that the library grew out of a gift of books received from Queen Victoria and prominent English writers and statesmen after the fire of 1871.

History of the Dispute.
Referring to Mayor Thompson's request that they enlist in his war against the redcoats, the library trustees on Oct. 31 advised the mayor that they had been misinformed concerning certain books which he had attacked as pro-British.

"With all due regard to your position," the trustees wrote to the mayor, "we fundamentally disagree with you in your contention." Five days later the mayor demanded the resignation of the entire board. No resignation was tendered and the board's communication yesterday was referred to the library committee with a view to its meeting.

Franklin Gives British Credit.
The acknowledgment of English literature was included in a pamphlet published by the Chicago Public Library and the Chicago Private Benefactor's Club, which was unanimously approved by the eight trustees present yesterday's hearing. Trustee U. J. Hermann, Mayor Thompson's representative on the board, was absent.

The Chicago public library grew out of a gift of books received from Queen Victoria, after the great fire of 1871, reads the opening paragraph of the pamphlet approved by the trustees.

"The organizer of this unique donation," it continues, "was the celebrated British author, Thomas Hughes, who saluted the interest of the literary and social circles of England in this enterprise."

Queen Made Donation.
"Donations were received from Queen Victoria, Disraeli, Gladstone, Emerson, Browning, Carlyle, Ruskin and many others, most of the books being autographed by their authors. A bookplate in each bore the message: 'To the City of Chicago towards the foundation of a free library after the great fire of 1871, as a mark of English sympathy.'"

Mayor Joseph Medill promptly accepted the gift as well as the trust imposed therein. Steps were taken to secure the legal organization of the Chicago Public Library as a municipal, tax supported institution, which is now in the fifty-sixth year of its corporate life.

The pamphlet will be used by the library's campaign to raise $4,500,000 in private requests to finance the building at fifty branches throughout the city.

Consider Building Project.
Mayor Thompson's plan to build a skyscraper above the present library building on Michigan avenue and to consolidate the library and board of education administrative offices in one building will be favorably considered by the board, several trustees said.

"We need additional space badly," said Trustee Colin C. H. Fyffe. All our shelves are filled to capacity and thousands of volumes have to be placed on the floor.

"When the present structure was put up, however, it was stipulated that it should be used solely by the library and the G. A. R. Before enlarging the building to include other offices it would probably be necessary to secure the consent of adjoining property owners."

"Our engineers have told us that the present building, resting on piles and chained together, would probably sustain an additional story. Erecting a skyscraper above it would necessitate sinking an entirely new foundation."

Publicity Helps Library.

Mayor Thompson's attack on the public library as a stronghold of British propaganda and the talk of book burnings by the public hangman proved to be good advertising for the institution, according to a report made yesterday by Librarian Carl B. Roden. During October the library made a new record of 1,098,152 books lent. Only twice before in the library's history had the million mark been passed.

13 INJURED AS EIGHT TON TRUCK HITS STREET CAR

Thirteen persons were injured early last evening when an eight ton oil truck driven by Harry Kolk, 3714 South Sacramento avenue, crashed into the side of a west bound Archer-Cloves surface car, crowded with workers on their way home, at 33d street and Archer avenue.

Part of the side of the street car was caved in and the engine and hood of the truck were wrecked. As glass from the windows was showered over them the passengers became panic-stricken and there was a wild rush for the doors. The conductor and the motorman were swept aside and several women and girls were knocked to the floor and trampled.

Eleven Taken to Hospitals.
Five of the injured were taken to the People's hospital and six to St. Paul's hospital. Physicians said that all probably would recover. Several suffered internal injuries and the others bruises and lacerations of the face and body.

Those taken to the People's hospital were William Kidd, 15, of 2317 West 35th street; Walter Clark, 21, of 2323 West 56th street; Theodore Wenger, 49, of 4119 South Albany avenue; Matthew Kuntz, 42, of 5234 Moody avenue, and James Corley, 30, of 2842 West 40th street.

At the St. Paul's hospital the following were treated: Michael Kerekuk, 47, of 3216 South Leavitt street; Frank Litoroski, 48, of 4287 Archer avenue; Virginia Kucharski, 18, and Eleanor Kucharski, 19, of 2497 West 55th street; Theodore Englebrecht, 27, of 4357 South St. Louis avenue, and Mary Wasakia, 17, of 5116 South Mozart street.

Benjamin T. Wahl, official of the North Park Trust and Savings bank, 3324 Lawrence avenue, died in Coldwater, Mich., from injuries received in an automobile collision near there Friday. He was on a motor trip following his marriage in Chicago Thursday.

Four Deaths in County.

Four deaths from motor accidents in Cook county raised the 1927 toll to 513.

Soren Sorenson, 72 years old, 2447 North Talman avenue, died from injuries received Oct. 24 when he was struck at Marshall boulevard and 19th street by an automobile driven by Arthur Reina, 2618 South Lawndale avenue.

Nellie Bohack, 22 years old, 5207 South Ashland avenue, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile as she was about to board a street car at 52d street and Ashland avenue.

Thomas McNamara, 60 years old, 4509 Emerald avenue, died from a fractured skull received Sunday night. He was struck at 48d and Halsted streets by a taxicab.

Kenneth Finley, 6 years old, 25 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge, who was injured in an automobile accident three weeks ago, died in the Lutheran Memorial hospital.

BURNS REPLIES TO OIL JURY PLOT CHARGES TODAY

Statements Expected to Include Many Names.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Burns today told a score or more of the grand jury that a score or more of the grand jury are to be named in his statement.

Mr. Burns today told the grand jury that he was not to be locked up, two telephone calls were made from Harry Sinclair's apartment in the Mayflower hotel.

Call Hotel Men.
The two witnesses heard by the grand jury today were James F. Ruddy, auditor of the Wardman Park hotel, and John F. Schlotterbeck, credit manager of the Mayflower hotel.

They were called upon to produce records of the telephone calls made by Sinclair officials and Burns operatives during the period the Teapot jury was being shadowed.

Mr. Schlotterbeck's records showed that on Oct. 15, the day it became known that the Teapot Dome jury was not to be locked up, two telephone calls were made from Harry Sinclair's apartment in the Mayflower hotel.

Both were calls for Harry Jeffries, Sinclair's confidential clerk. Jeffries has admitted that these calls were to instruct him to engage the Burns agency to trail the Teapot jurors.

Trace Ruddy's Calls.
The Wardman Park hotel records disclosed that Charles G. Ruddy, field manager of the Burns agency and the official in immediate charge of the fourteen Burns operatives assigned to the Teapot jury "operation," was in frequent communication with the Sinclair headquarters in the Mayflower hotel as well as with Henry Mason Day, one of Sinclair's aids, in the home of Donald Woodward, a leading local merchant.

Day, who is vice president of the Sinclair Exploration company, and Sheldon Clark of Chicago, vice president of the Sinclair Refining company, who are alleged to have received the daily reports of the detectives, have been formally charged with conspiring to "fix" the Teapot jury and both are at liberty under bonds.

Explains Use of Alias.
Ruddy today declared that the Burns agency had made only the customary investigation of McMullin, who was known to them as William J. Long, before he was engaged. Asked why such a delicate task as the preparation of an affidavit which might be used as the basis for a mistrial had been trusted to a comparatively new employe, Ruddy asserted that the agency's records showed Long or McMullin applied for a position on Sept. 30 and that he was investigated under the name of Long and found satisfactory.

McMullin explained today that he had assumed the identity of a friend, with the latter's permission, when he entered the detective service, because he feared his family might resent his undertaking employment of such nature.

CLARK BACK IN CHICAGO.
Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining company, returned to Chicago yesterday after appearing before the grand jury in Washington, D. C., in the Fall-Sinclair jury tampering investigation. He has been ordered to reappear in Washington on Nov. 23.

Predicting that Sinclair eventually will be cleared of all suspicion, Mr. Clark said that he was proud to be fighting with him.

14 PHYSICIANS AT SPEEDWAY ARE SUSPENDED

Suspension for ninety days without pay was ordered yesterday for fourteen physicians on the Speedway hospital staff in Maywood. It was learned last night. The order is said to be in connection with the investigation of the part played by them in the alleged wholesale sale of liquor prescriptions.

All of those suspended were given ten days to file objections to the order, which came direct from Washington. Their suspension follows in close order the resignations announced last week of Col. R. W. C. Francis, the head of the hospital, and three other physicians. Col. Francis, however, quit because of ill health, it was said.

Among those reported suspended were Dr. M. E. Murray, Dr. James Hunter, Dr. A. C. Field, Dr. G. R. Curl, Dr. D. J. Fanning.

ANNUAL COLD-PREVENTION WEEK

(Nov. 13 to Nov. 19, Inclusive)

NOZOL

(Pronounced "Nose-All")

The quick way to break up colds—
The effective way to stop them!

TAKE no chance with a cold. No matter how slight it may seem, you're safer and more comfortable without it.

Too many "little colds" are regarded lightly—totally neglected until they have developed into more serious illness. It is the purpose of Cold-Prevention Week to keep colds, gripe, and resultant sickness at a minimum. Join the drive! Co-operate by protecting yourself. Get a bottle of NOZOL today and keep it handy at all times.

At the slightest suspicion that a cold is coming on, or after exposure of any kind, put a few drops of NOZOL in each nostril. It will immediately clear them of all germs which may lurk there. It will prevent the entry of cold germs into the nasal passages, the place where most colds first set in.

If you already have a head cold NOZOL will quickly break it up. In a few seconds it will relieve that "clogged-up" condition and re-establish deep, easy breathing through the nose.

This weather makes it easy to catch colds, but NOZOL makes it just as easy to get rid of them and keep them away. Aside from its quick effectiveness, NOZOL has the added advantage of convenience. The bottle can be handily carried in pocket or bag, and at any time or place the dropper-stopper used to administer the cold-exterminating drops.

NOZOL is harmless. It is widely recommended by physicians and is used extensively in hospitals. Walgreen and Economical Drug Stores have found it so successful that they guarantee a refund of the purchase price if NOZOL doesn't prove satisfactory in every way.

Caution them against remaining out-of-doors to cool off after becoming overheated. Beware of damp clothing. If shoes and stockings are wet see that they are changed at once.

And then—to thwart the possible entry of any cold germs into little systems, use NOZOL. Absolutely devoid of anything unpleasant, NOZOL is a remedy that is easily administered. And it is absolutely SAFE, as well as sure and quick. Protect the children against colds. Have NOZOL on hand at all times.

TYRANNY AND BRUTALITY IN ALABAMA.

Obviously the Alabama floggings have been to teach respect for law, to punish flagrant offenders, and to uphold decency in social conduct. The Klan floggers have sought a moral justification in the moral misconduct of their victims. The violent methods of these unauthorized law enforcers have given some sympathy to unintelligent people in the state because it has been thought that punishment was due the persons abused.

Even if the violence had been done only undesirable people and vile characters it could not be condoned. The correction is worse than the evils. It means that justice adjoins and individual violence takes its place. It means terrorism. It allows personal judgments of conduct to inflict barbarous punishment upon people. It degrades the persons who undertake to torture in the name of the law and it lowers the whole community which tolerates it.

The self-constituted law enforcers are not safe persons to have the correction of faults in hand. It is inevitable that they will abuse the power which they have assumed and become a worse menace to the order and well being of the community than any evil which they presume to correct. A society which has surrendered its affairs to such irregulars is in a dangerous situation. Soon no one, innocent or otherwise, will have any protection in life or property. Law has abdicated and violence has taken its place.

One story from Alabama reveals this. Arthur Hitt, a Negro, had a farm eighteen miles from Birmingham where he lived and worked with his wife and children. He was law abiding and respectable but his farm was coveted. He was offered a ridiculously small sum for it and although fearing that his refusal would make him trouble declined to sell. His farm was his living and he did not know where else he could live.

Later, at night, he was enticed from his house and then seized by white robed men. He was tied to a tree and stripped of his waist. The floggers accused him of having a still on his place. He had found one there and had destroyed it. He was flogged until he was half dead.

Later he was offered $500 for his farm and he knew he had to sell it. When the deed was recorded it was discovered that the new owner was W. J. Worthington, a lawyer, a prominent member of a Methodist church and a Bible class teacher who had been a Klan leader. Worthington says he never went on a punitive expedition, knew nothing of the mistreatment of Hitt and that the sale of the farm was not involved in such procedure. Worthington now is working a gravel pit on the place and selling the gravel for road work.

Whatever all the facts in the case may be it is apparent that this colored man was deprived of his property because he was in fear of his life. As a Negro he was unable to protect himself and he had to submit to an outrage of traffic effect upon his family.

No state can endure such savagery. It cannot maintain a civilization and countenance or condone such barbarism in the name of law enforcement. The first wrong step is taken when citizens assume jurisdiction over their fellow men, pronouncing judgments upon them and executing sentences upon them, dragging them from their homes and abusing them with calculated brutality.

It is a disgrace to the American name.

DIRTY WATER.

The military engineer of the city water bureau says the drinking water of Chicago is frequently polluted. The pollution comes from the towns of the Calumet district to the south which empty industrial and domestic wastes into the lake, untreated. Sometimes the wind drives these wastes toward the city's intake. The south side is especially menaced. The pollution occasionally is so concentrated that even chlorination is not sufficient to destroy the disease bacteria. Much of the pollution enters the lake from the Calumet river, the mouth of which is less than four miles away from the southernmost of the city's water intakes.

Two measures are contemplated to remedy the situation. One is to filter the city's water supply. To do so will require years for the construction of equipment and it would be a mistake to engage upon a program of filtration without preliminary experimentation. The other proposal is to treat the sewage from the Calumet district before emptying it into the lake. Some progress in this direction has already been made with the cooperation of the larger industrial plants to the south of the city.

The Calumet river is now doing what the Chicago river used to do before the drainage canal was dug. Chicago is the only great city on the lakes which does not pollute its own drinking water and that of neighboring communities. Chicagoans cannot afford to forget, nor are they likely to forget, while the present situation continues in the Calumet district, that the slight diversion of lake water into the canal has saved thousands of lives in this and neighboring communities.

VETERANS IN DISTRESS.

There are probably few men of position in Chicago who have not at one time or another had their attention called to the plight of some unfortunate war veteran. Men who have deserved, well of their country are out of work, in ill health, hungry, or without shelter. The American Legion has gone to the assistance of many of the unfortunate veterans and has succeeded in obtaining for them the pensions and hospital care which the government intended they should have; but there are many veterans who are suffering mental and physical torture because there appears to be no agency to supply their peculiar needs. Many of these unfortunate are clear situation directly to the war; and there is a clear moral responsibility upon the community to care for them. As age creeps on, it is likely that the number of men deserving of help but unable to get it will increase.

The government has done much and veterans' organizations have done much for their comrades, but the time appears to have arrived for a re-examination of the situation with an eye both to present and future relief of unfortunate veterans. A national commission made up of men in and out of the government service should be set to work to discover the loopholes in the law and in bureau regulations which prevent deserving men from receiving the aid which they need and their service entitles them to.

MISS ELDER AND MR. WOMACK.

Miss Ruth Elder is back home and has been given a hand in New York. She is the first woman almost to fly over the ocean, and because a woman, has had almost as good a time out of a failure as the American men had out of their successful flights across. That is fair enough. George Halde man, her pilot, who was picked out of the sea along with her, also returned with her.

In crowd waiting for Miss Elder was Mr. Womack and Miss Marjorie Oelrichs. Miss Oelrichs represented the Woman's party. Mr. Womack represented himself, the husband of Miss Elder. Until recently it was not generally known that a husband was about the place. Mrs. Womack evidently did not say much about it, and the matter passed without comment. It was some time, even at the homecoming, before any one, even Mrs. Womack, paid any attention to Mr. Womack. He had not been in the picture before, and he had some difficulty in finding the frame on his wife's return.

Miss Oelrichs' presence as a representative of the Woman's party at the welcome seemed to be delicately relevant. She is the young lady well favored by fortune who recently wrote an article for Liberty Magazine saying that when she married she would intelligently marry a European, intelligently because the young American male is, by and large, a poor sap.

Mr. Womack would confess that there is nothing more trying for a husband, American or otherwise, than to have the wife engaged in deeds of daring and high enterprise while the provider keeps on trying to be a good provider in meritorious but unadventurous ways. The domestic discipline required to keep such a wife in her sphere, wherever it is, has not been definitely booked. A European would have an advantage in that he early would have accustomed his wife to the upper berth, the rock and gizzard, the poor side of the reading lamp, and to taking out the ashes. If any thing was to be done by the family, he would do it; and if any one waited on the dock until the photographers, reporters, and prominent citizens had seen their stuff, it would be the wife.

European domestic proportions would not get so out of place. American men have become accustomed to rattling their chains, but eventually they may form the Tough Egg Protective association, incorporated to treat them rough. Or it may be too late in the day for that. Mr. Womack has business affairs in Panama, and he would like Miss Elder to return there with him. She seems to doubt that her plans will make this possible. They probably won't. Marriage is getting to be a desperate gamble for men in the United States. Any husband may find that he has been checked in the nearest parking place while his wife is in a ring-side seat.

It was an ominous sign when the ladies began putting their feet on the smoking car seats. The antiquities of matrimony in the story of the prize fighter who socked his bride on the jaw as she was on the steps coming out of the church and, as he raised her up tenderly, said, "And that, dearie, was for nothin' at all."

CONTINUING TO FLY.

Contracts for eight large transport planes have been let by the war department. The planes are of the type of the one piloted to Hawaii by Lieut. Maitland and Hegenberger. They are trimotored and each has a carrying capacity of ten persons. The war department is continuing its policy of modernization. Eight planes with the lift and the flying range of that which traversed the Pacific form a powerful fleet, and they cost a total of only $328,000. Compare that with the cost of the battleship Colorado—$35,000,000. Seventy-six transport planes could be built for the price of the Colorado.

The country owes a debt to the men who showed the need of modernization and to those who are now carrying out that program. Congress' part is to lend support by way of adequate appropriations.

Editorial of the Day

UP TO TREATY STRENGTH.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]
The general board's five year naval building program, accepted by President Coolidge and the budget bureau, aims at genuine treaty strength for the navy. It is a logical consequence of the impasse last summer at Geneva.

Since Geneva the illusions which so long held up American cruiser construction have vanished. We know now that treaty parity is to be had by building, and in no other way. We can afford to build, and at the same time we have been put into a position in which we cannot avoid building if we want to live up to the pledges we made to ourselves as well as to others in the Washington treaty. Parity is the basis of our whole naval policy—not a parity which we should be other nations to help us maintain by concessions on their part, but a parity obtainable at our own will and through our own efforts.

A five year cruiser program calling for the construction each year of four 10,000 ton cruisers would give us an authorized and appropriated for cruiser strength by 1931 almost equal to Great Britain's. It is a program that does not mean to exceed what her delegates to Geneva described as her maximum needs. The administration will find overwhelming support in congress and in the country for such a program. It is now the only one consistent with dignity, prudence and common sense.

THE Y. W. C. A. HEALTH PROGRAM.

THE Young Women's Christian association devotes much of its energy to adult education in health. Recently I had an opportunity of comparing their health program with that of the Western Electric company. Both are specializing in health training for women.

The Y. W. C. A. endeavors to have their people take periodic health examinations, regardless of the absence or presence of symptoms. They succeed nicely with the girls doing swimming, basketball, volleyball, and other games. They are in a position to require that every girl take such an examination as a condition for being given a ticket to play.

They are not in too good position as regards subsequent periodic examinations of those who were sound at the time of the first physical. They have more difficulty in still obtaining physicals of the girls who do not go in for gym.

Their program has a place for more formal adult education in health that is somewhat similar to that of the Western Electric. It consists more of lectures and less of textbook work. However, the Y. W. C. A. is responsible directly and indirectly for the writing of a considerable number of books on various phases of personal hygiene for women. As a rule, these books, or many of them, are found on the library shelves of the Y. W. C. A., and the girls are encouraged to read them. The personal counsel service concerns itself, in considerable measure, with the health problems that grow out of customs and habits. The girls are urged to go to the complete with such problems as faulty posture, painful feet, bunions, corns, backache, headache, and monthly absenteeism.

As is to be expected, a considerable part of the counseling relates to overweight and underweight. The fat ones want to be skinny and the skinny ones are desirous to learn the art of curves. The program of health education at the Western Electric than they do at the Y. W. C. A., but they are a little more removed from health education.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

CORRECTION.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend of mine married a divorced man in Indiana, but was an Illinois resident. She did not wait for the year to elapse which was the law then in Illinois. They separated shortly after their marriage, during which time his first wife died. My friend cannot locate him and has not known his whereabouts for ten years.

1. Was such a marriage legal in Illinois?

2. If she wants to remarry must she first get a divorce? She claims she has, but I doubt the validity of the divorce. Does the law look upon a person as dead if they cannot be located for seven years?

3. Marriage in violation of the Illinois law, which was in effect prior to 1924, are voidable under the present law. The fact you state does not clearly show that the marriage in question was originally contrary to Illinois law. This question appeared in our Nov. 13 issue but there was no error in the reply.

4. Yes, divorce for two years is a ground for divorce in Illinois.

5. The presumption that you have in mind would not stand if it could be proved to be a fact that he was living.

NEW ORLEANS.—Roused by the effort of the Chicago Teachers' federation to gain recognition as a legitimate labor union, the American Federation of Labor convention here has started a movement to organize the teachers in all the large cities. It is their intention to use the Chicago organization as a nucleus and around it build up a national organization of teachers.

CHICAGO.—William Hale Thompson, county commissioner elect, was the principal witness at the trial of the assassin of Mrs. Josephine Moffitt against W. W. Pike for separate maintenance. Mr. Thompson told of the bachelor dinner he gave for his brother at the Monroe restaurant after which Mrs. Moffitt and Pike first met, and of his instruction to his brother Percival after a cab ride that he ought to see that Pike got home safely. He said the reason for the instruction was that it was his opinion that Pike was a "dangerous woman."

LONDON.—Sir Henry Irving and Arthur Bourchier, with their companies, gave a theatrical performance before Emperor William and King Edward and a brilliant court, afterward dining with their majesties.

CHICAGO.—Gossip around the county building was that "Dr. T. N. Jamieson might be made deputy county treasurer when John J. Hanberg takes charge of the office."

CHICAGO.—James A. Patton, Board of Trade man and mayor of Evansville, Ind., has purchased for $150,000 a 432 foot of frontage in Sherman street for $425,000 and will expend $575,000 in the construction of buildings on it.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Three years in the penitentiary is the punishment meted out to Col. Ed Butler, millionaire and politician.

foods, such as bread, milk, meat, fruits, to reach the intestines? This is, in trying to overcome intestinal disturbance, it would be helpful to know what foods are probably causing disturbance, so as to change the diet experimentally.

REPLY.
Food remains in the stomach only about one and a half to two and a half hours. Hawk's book, "The Food and What It Does of It" gives the result of his research in the field you are interested in. About the same length of time, or an hour longer is required for the food to pass through the small intestine, and a few hours more for the passage through the large intestine, although that organ is short.

BIRTHMARK EUGENEO AGAIN.
C. Z. H. writes: I am an expectant mother and would like to know a few things about pregnancy. For instance, if I was walking in the street and saw a rat, or if I saw a rat at home and became frightened and grabbed my face, or any part of my body, would that affect the child or leave any birthmark on the child on the place where I grabbed myself? Or, if I saw a rat at home and became frightened and grabbed my face, or any part of my body, would that affect the child?

REPLY.
Another thing I would like to know is this: If I saw a rat or the freaks or the freaks of nature, or if I saw a rat at home and became frightened, but just think of them constantly and touch my face, would this mark the child in any way?

REPLY.
Fortunately, your baby cannot be marked by the things you see, or the thoughts you think. Nor by the things dangerously ignorant people tell you. Nature has wisely shielded babies from such effects, even the effects of gossip by people who want to spread misery and fear.

BIG FEET NO DISGRACE.

Mrs. R. P. A. writes: My children have very large feet for their ages. They go barefoot in the summer and people tell me that is the cause. Is there anything to be done so that their feet won't grow so fast?

REPLY.
If you live in a region where there is no hockwork it is advisable to let the children go barefoot. I do not know whether or not it makes the feet grow larger, but it does, what of it? The world bows in admiration of Greek statuary. All the statues of such stature have been set. Especially is this true of women. The Venus de Milo has beautifully big feet.

REPLY.
I believe your children inherit their large feet. Let us hope so. (Not meaning to state you unduly or dangerously.)

CHICAGO.—Readers of this newspaper have gone pro-Santa Claus by $18,471. In the final day's rally for the Christmas fund for the boys in the army, the Chicago Tribune contributed the large sum of $5,701.50, thereby bringing the total to the figure mentioned. This means that 11,770 American soldiers in France have the gift of the Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO.—The engagement of Miss Mabel Chamberlain, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Charles J. Chamberlain, 5156 Greenwood avenue, to Harold L. Alsopp has been announced.

WASHINGTON.—Whether the United States shall declare war on Austria-Hungary will be determined by congress at the session beginning next month. Senator King has served notice to the president for such a declaration, despite the fact the administration is opposed to it at this time.

CHICAGO.—Announcement has been made in Washington D. C. of the wedding of Miss Margaret C. MacVough, daughter of the late Wayne MacVough, and Capt. Stuart Farrar Smith, U. S. N., which took place on Nov. 12. The bride is a niece of Franklin MacVough.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to Line, let the quips tell where they may.

TALK ABOUT the New York City Hall, or Old Nassau at Princeton, or Faneuil Hall in Boston, or what you will, but out in Iowa is one of the loveliest old buildings in the country. It's Old Capitol, once the state house of Iowa and now the administration building of the University of Iowa. It was built away back in 1840, several years before Iowa became a state. Father Samuel Maschell, a Catholic missionary with the Indians, the only man in all that wilderness at the time who knew anything about architecture, drew the plans and supervised the erection of the building. We don't know much about architecture, but we know what we like and we know that quaint old building, with its gothic pillars on each side and its matching cupola dome, preaches peace and tranquility in the midst of a mad, cloud plowing, set back, ninety-nine storied age.

BUT INSIDE Old Capitol is the greatest marvel, the hanging staircase. There's a staircase that just naturally swings right into the air and spirals around to the floors above without resting on anything at all. It's very likely is supported by something, but for busy feet have been tramping up and down those winding stairs now for almost a hundred years and it never lost a passenger. And then you must go into the old legislative chambers and see the great swinging chandeliers with their hundreds of crystal glass pendants. And look at the woodwork and take in the exquisite proportions of the rooms and the windows. Mind your step, because architects from all over the country are dropping in every day to study Old Capitol, and they go crawling around all over the place on their hands and knees taking measurements and purring with joy at the beauty they have discovered. It's a beautiful thing, Old Capitol, and John Alcock, the w. k. Sunday editor, has about half promised to print the pictures of it we brought back. And if you get a chance, motor around that way and see for yourself.

THA B. AND C. HELPS THE DUKE BUY A NEW BENNY.

Dear Dick: I hope that you didn't hafta go through any agony like I had too when you got your new winter coat. The other night this B. and C. decided the wood'n be seen on the street with me unless I got a new snow kimona. I told her to put it in writing but she wouldn't so I promised her I'd look around an then she tells me that I didn't want her along as I was no baby she agreed with herself and WE went. In the first store the clerk showed us a swell benny but the Mama said she couldn't decide by just seeing one so she had him drop out $50 more. Finally she tells the guy that we might return in the next store, so I must have looked at about 80. There was one I liked very much which I guess was the reason that I was told it was terrible. In the third store she found one what suited her and after me telling her the "wood'n" wear it to a dog fight she told the clerk we'd take it. The coat was actually a dark as I figured the only way I could get it would be to knock it. The clerk says it would take 24 hours to raise the left shoulder and I told him that was fine as it would take me 24 hours to raise the bunks. Well, they deliver the coat Friday and Saturday morning the Mama decides it ain't any good and I should return it an get my money back, to which I reply that I ain't doing this act and neither are WE. After her calling me a coward she returns it and the guy tells her they don't refund any money but that she could get any other kind of merchandise for the 40 bucks. We happen to owe this emporium a lotta jack as it's the place where we bought our furniture so she cred it to the 40 for the furniture. PRIVATE LIFE OF THE SCORPION.

Nov. 8.—I agree with the opinion of Panathia Cullen, on Nov. 8, 1927, except on one belief that scorpions commit stinging themselves to death by fire. Is of ancient origin is prevalent wherever there is a scorpion. It is, nevertheless, quite unfounded, for it has been experiments of late, that the scorpion has no effect upon the individual upon a member of the same species. Scorpions are harmless and only use the sting for the purpose of killing prey. They are, susceptible to heat, and very rapidly when exposed to a fire or to tropical sun.

They feel the heat beating upon their backs and strike out, as if to drive off or to destroy the enemy, and there is no doubt that the belief above alluded to is mainly to observation of the animal is not from a well-founded, but from the heat, is at a random stroke, now and then inflicting a wound upon the animal. Such a wound is accidental, and at most will be a small measure to the death. Scorpions are very innocuous by any sharp point of the sting.

Nov. 9.—An incident that occurred back yard at El Paso, N. M., may be interesting to those who have read the recent notes on the White Leghorn. We heard early one morning among the fowl, and saw our White Leghorns in a rough circle around a large hen having decidedly the appearance of a rooster. It was at one and then another of the fowl rooster stayed (discovering the ground) would squawk and make a peck at the fowl. The hen retreat to its place in the flock. When they got through the left but some hairy rooster. We did not notice any of the chickens after the encounter. I often wondered whether the latest instance of valor on the part of the hens or whether they were successful war on the large.

PASTORS REJECT A PLAN TO WAR ON "WET" PRESS

M. E. Ministers Assail
Tribune's Policy.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Resolutions introduced into the Methodist ministers' meeting yesterday declaring, "We favor supporting those business firms which do not advertise in wet newspapers," and, "urging the resolution be sent for approval to the ministers' associations of other denominations and be commended by the pastors to the consideration of the various men's and women's organizations in the churches," were rejected by the public policy committee as unethical and unwise.

The mover of the resolutions, Dr. King D. Beach, pastor of St. James church, a member of the public policy committee, brought the matter before the meeting as a minority report expressing approval. A spirited debate followed. After discussion, on motion of the Rev. J. L. Dickson, a decision on the matter was postponed for three weeks.

Those Who Opposed Idea.

The members of the public policy committee who voted nonconcurrence were the Rev. Carl D. Gage, Edison Park, chairman; the Rev. M. N. Clark, Community church; the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, Woodlawn Park, and the Rev. C. H. Draper, Lake Forest.

"I do not want to take to the newspapers what their policy shall be," said Dr. Beach in defending the resolutions, "but the church has a right in its policy as well as the newspapers. I consider, for instance, that this Tribune is grossly unfair in its news on the wet and dry situation. The news is colored, distorted, and selected with the plain purpose of propaganda in favor of the wets. It seeks to discredit the Anti-Saloon league by looking it up with the Ku Klux Klan, an organization which has no connection with the league. It seeks to throw contempt on prohibition by calling those who are trying to enforce the law 'snoopers.' I am in favor of trying to throw into the management of the paper a little of the fear of God by touching them at the point where they will feel it the most, namely, through their advertisers. The people have grown tired and disgusted with the continued carping attitude towards the dry cause."

Wants to Fight Press.

The Rev. J. Hastie Odgers, district superintendent of the Chicago Northern district, declared:

"We resent the insult and contempt with which this Tribune has treated our ministers and our church. I do not, however, favor the resolutions. I favor seeking cooperation with the other ministerial bodies in waging an open fight on the attitude of the entire wet press."

Dr. Kirk W. Robbins, pastor of Bismarckway church, Evanston, said he supported the resolutions on the ground that the principle advocated in discriminating against advertisers was in effect a boycott, which is unlawful.

The Rev. Fred J. Schnell, assistant pastor of St. James church, said: "The wet propaganda of the press has all but nullified the 18th amendment and the Volstead law."

KILLED 3 DRYS IN SELF-DEFENSE, SMUGGLERS' PLEA

Pair Placed on Trial
at Miami, Fla.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Offering a defense that they fired in self-defense at coast guardmen "who were guilty of piracy in seizing them on the high seas," Horace Alderman and Robert Weech, rum smugglers, went on trial in federal court today for the murder of two coast guardmen and a secret service agent.

In a gun battle aboard a coast guard patrol boat on the high seas early in August the three men fell mortally wounded. The official coast guard report declared that Alderman and Weech, who had been taken into custody with a liquor laden craft, attempted to overpower the coast guard crew. The pair virtually had succeeded, the report held, when Alderman was caught off guard while he held the crew back with a revolver.

Beaten Into Unconsciousness.

Alderman was rushed and beaten into unconsciousness, as was Weech, who was in the hold of the liquor boat obeying Alderman's command to get under way. Defense counsel also will claim that the men slain might have been struck by coast guard bullets during the battle.

Judge Henry D. Clayton of Alabama was sent here by the government to try the case. Alderman is charged with first degree murder in three counts and is named with Weech in a fourth indictment charging accessory. Weech is charged with accessory before and after the fact.

Death by Hanging.

The maximum penalty under the charges is death by hanging in the district in which the conviction is obtained, according to the maritime law governing murder on the high seas.

The men who lost their lives were Victor A. Lamb and S. C. Banderlin, coast guardmen, and Robert Webster, secret service agent, who was returning at the time from Bimini where he is said to have been engaged in "under cover" work.

FALL ON STOVE IS FATAL.

The fall, 65, of 4944 Westworth avenue, died in the Brooks hospital yesterday of a fracture of the skull which he received at his home Nov. 11 when he fell against a stove.

Wonderful Effect of Nurotic That Actually Enables the Helpless to Go Back to Work.

DRUGGISTS GUARANTEE IT
Rheumatic sufferers are certainly going wild with joy at the discovery of Nurotic. For the first time they have found something they can absolutely depend upon to rid them of the pain of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia or neuritis. And to make it more complete, if it doesn't drive away the worst pain within two or three doses the druggist will refund your money. A New York specialist was finally induced to put up his famous prescription as a great public benefit. It works like a charm, fast and powerful, but harmless to children, no opiates or other narcotics. By all means make a trial of this remarkable prescription that puts the helpless out of bed, sends them back to work, happy and free.
Nurotic is now sold in the drug stores and is the greatest blessing yet discovered for those tortured with pain of rheumatism. Get it at all—

SAYS DRY AGENT BULLET TOLL IS NEAR 4 FIGURES

Most of Them Shot in Back, Edwards Asserts.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—

Senator Edward J. Edwards (Dem., N. J.) in an article which will appear in the December issue of Plain Talk under the caption "Shot in the Back," says that the number of persons killed by federal prohibition agents "must run into four figures" and that many have been shot down in "cold blood." He alleges also that treasury department reports of these killings "are too pure and simple."

Senator Edwards bases his condemnation upon six months of research in Washington. He points out that his research was not nationwide and acknowledges that had it been the results would have been more startling. He gives specific instances and asserts: "Honesty, decency, kindness, real friendships are hard to find among prohibition agents. Even in their own there is no honor."

Sen. Good Men Dodge the Work.

"Why have there been so many deaths and so much graft in the enforcement of prohibition?" the article continues. "The answer is the character of the men who enforce. Crafters and hoodlums. The truth is that few self-respecting men would have anything to do with prohibition enforcement. What self-respecting man would buy liquor and then arrest the man who sold it to him?" "As long as prohibition lasts, statistics will never catch up with the number of persons killed by prohibition officers, federal, state and municipal. The federal men have, to date, slain about 200, and I have records of 'dispositions' from the treasury department of 152 killings by federal agents with some eighty-four other cases where deaths have occurred at the hands of local officers. These latter, tabulated at great cost of time and money, represent a mere fraction of the total."

"Shot in the Back." "How do men die when prohibition agents shoot? Many of them die in cold blood, shot in the back. The reports of the treasury department, do not, it is true, ever say that the victim was shot in the back, for it would not look good. Read the court records and see what you find—an interesting refrain, a chant, 'shot in the back, shot in the back.'

"Twenty-five per cent of the so-called 'efficient' persons in the prohibition service have been discharged for all sorts of scoundrelism. Then stop and think of the number who were never found out."

LIES 238 KILLINGS.

Senator Edwards gives the following list of 238 alleged killings by prohibition agents:

"Ten persons lie in their graves in Arkansas, fifteen in Texas, five have been killed in my own state of New Jersey, four are dead in Maryland, ten have been fatally shot in West Virginia. Nineteen gave up their lives in Georgia. Twenty-three are dead in Virginia, where George Washington kept his own still. Seven perished in Mississippi. Three have died violently in the state where William Penn declared eternal love to mankind. Thirteen rest in New York graveyards. Eight are dead in Alabama. The 'dark and bloody ground' of Kentucky leads all the states with twenty-seven. These are only a few figures of the great unestablished number."

FACES LIEBEL INDICTMENT

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—

The Rev. Dr. Marna S. Poulson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of New Jersey, today faces a strong probability of being indicted for criminal libel because of his recent public denunciation of three Newark judges as "side and abettors of those breaking the gambling and liquor laws."

Chief Justice Gummers of the Supreme court in Newark charged the grand jury, which recently found Dr. Poulson's accusations "false and untrue," to indict for criminal libel "the person or persons" responsible for the publication of charges against the judges. He added that the alleged libelous statements had been attributed to "a man named Poulson."

SWINGS AT WIFE, BUT HITS BABY; GETS JAIL TERM

John Alekna, a millwright who weighs 225 pounds, went to his home at 315 East 119th place Saturday evening with a headache. His wife, with their three month old son, Victor, in her arms tried to comfort him. "I don't want any sympathy," he shouted Alekna. Seizing a piece of rubber hose, he began to beat Mrs. Alekna. The hose broke and he grasped a wooden club. Swinging at his wife, he missed and the blow fell on the head of little Victor, who suffered a concussion of the brain.

Yesterday Alekna was arraigned before Judge Philip Finnegan on a charge of assault and battery. This time he said he wanted sympathy. The judge refused to give it to him. He was first sentenced to 300 days in the Bridewell, but a plea by Mrs. Alekna, who said she still loved him in spite of the beating, reduced his punishment to thirty days at hard labor.

KIMBALL PIANOS

A Story of Seven Decades

YOU could not have a more convincing assurance of piano-value than the gradual manner in which the prestige of the Kimball name has been acquired during the past seventy years.

Hundreds of thousands of instruments, each secure in the favor of its owner and in his openly voiced admiration, have contributed toward this great reputation.

And when a Kimball enters your home, we rely on it to establish a little more firmly a name that is read on more pianos than that of any other maker.

What better assurance of merit can you ask? Let us demonstrate the rich, "singing" tones of the Kimball to you; let us show you the beautiful new period styles, also the classic-modern designs, the reproducing grands, the uprights and the players. May we expect you today?

The Kimball "One-Price" policy assures the same full, generous value to every purchaser. Partial payments if desired.

No one could make little pork sausages like Grandmother Mickelberry

Sausage breakfasts on the old Mickelberry Plantation became a sacred rite among those friends who were invited to gather around the table.

At these morning feasts the dainty little nuggets of sausage were the piece de resistance. And one partook freely—until completely satisfied.

For, under her witchery, Grandmother Mickelberry's little pork sausages not only whetted the appetite to especial keenness, but also inspired digestion.

A few selected friends enjoyed this fine food in those early plantation days. Today millions of pounds are distributed annually to homes, clubs, hotels, and the dining cars of the finest trains.

The same family recipe

It is to Grandmother Mickelberry that we owe the recipe for Mickelberry's famous little pork sausages.

The delicate, spicy flavor which so many relish today—which invokes good appetite and aids assimilation—faithfully follows the original recipe.

Serve any time

With waffles or pancakes and thick, golden syrup—with tangy applesauce or sliced apples—nestling in billowy mashed potatoes —and in a score of other ways
—Mickelberry's adds new delights to the sausage season.

Mickelberry's little farm sausages are made and delivered fresh every day. Look for the famous

A. F. OF L. PLANS LEGAL MOVES TO FIGHT INJUNCTION

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—(AP)—A "legal remedy" for what he termed "government by injunction" will be sought by the American Federation of Labor, its president, William Green, featured here today in an address before a conference of labor leaders and officials of the United Mine Workers, called to discuss ways and means of aiding the miners in their strike.

The federation's president, in his address, attacked the activities of the coal and iron police, appointed by the owners and paid by the coal companies, assailed the evictions by the companies of thousands of miners from their homes, and served notice on the political powers of Pennsylvania that "they will know we are going to enter into political affairs in accordance with our nonpartisan policy."

Gov. John B. Fisher of Pennsylvania was named as vice president, attorney, and director of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal corporation, which officials of the United Mine Workers formed "a strike breaking subsidiary of the New York Central railroad."

The naming, in that connection, of the Pennsylvania executive, who declared an invitation to address the labor leaders, furnished a dramatic moment to the conference, which had been featured by an intimate picture of conditions in the mining camps and

SANTA CLAUS TO COST FEDERAL MAIL SERVICE NINE EXTRA MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Santa Claus is going to make the post-office department dig down and shell out approximately $9,000,000 to pay the extra cost of handling gifts and greetings this Christmas.

Postmaster General New indicated today that the additional expenditure would be necessary, basing the estimate on previous years' experience.

Insured by mine union officials and charges of a "conspiracy" on the part of great combinations of wealth to destroy the union. The "conspiracy," of which the Mellon banking interests were named as a part, was said by Philip Murray, vice president of the miners' union, to have extended to the point where pressure was brought to bear upon otherwise favorable mining companies to prevent them from signing the union wage scale.

Gov. Fisher was named as an official of the Clearfield corporation by James Mark, president of district No. 2, U. M. W. Mark said the coal concern was operating with "strike breakers," protected by "gunmen," and had evicted most of the striking miners. He added that Gov. Fisher was an official of the company.

"That," said John L. Lewis, president of the mine union, "furnishes a possible motive for the governor of Pennsylvania, in permitting coal and iron police and deputy sheriffs to run amuck in the coal mining districts."

1928 TAX BILL IS UNDER WAY IN COMMITTEE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Actual framing of the new tax bill commenced today with consideration by the house ways and means committee of administrative provisions. Meeting in executive session, the committee discussed a proposal for simplifying the operation of the earned income deduction in computing individual income taxes but took no action on it pending the receipt of additional information as to the effect on revenues.

The proposal as recommended by the joint committee on internal revenue taxation contemplates changing the deduction from 25 to 10 per cent but simplifying the method of computing the tax in such a way that the aggregate of the deductions would be greater than under the present scheme.

Vet Held for Robbing Butcher of Pound of Meat

On Saturday, William Baker, an ex-Canadian soldier, left his home at 1943 Larrabee street and went to the meat market of Peter Feldgrud, half a block away. Holding his hand in his pocket and pretending that he had a pistol, he forced the butcher into the ice box. Then he took a pound of sausage and walked out. Yesterday he was held to the grand jury on a charge of robbery, with bonds fixed at $1,500. Mrs. Baker said her husband was shell-shocked during the war and asked that he be given a sanity test.

MODERN BEAUTY ... DOES YOUR OFFICE HAVE IT?

DOES your office say, "This business is well run," the instant a visitor sees it? Modern beauty has become a necessity to modern business.

The looks and the efficiency of any office are improved by the use of Art Metal Steel Office Equipment. Why? Because Art Metal is both beautiful and practical.

Solid bronze fittings, every detail of design correct—magnificent finishes in natural grain or rich olive green—all these are there. But the permanence, the easy operation, the fire-proof and dust-proof qualities—all the advantages of steel are present, too.

But what of cost? Art Metal costs no more than other fine office equipment. And the first cost is the last cost because it is steel. Flakes Signal: "Stop Tri-chor-rhexis (Dry Rot) If You Want Beautiful Hair!"

NATURE warns you. Flakes flash the danger signal... you are ruining your hair. The heat of permanent waving or the curling iron takes natural oils from the hair... starves the roots, stunts luxurious growth. Greases, waxes, gums, quince or flaxseed used for dressings, clog the follicles, choke the roots, coat the scalp... Trichorrhexis (dry rot) begins, dandruff forms... the loss of hair is certain... life and lustre are impossible.

Marcelle Brillantine is more than just a brilliantine... it is a hair food and greaseless dressing combined. Its rare oils nourish the tiny hair follicles... feed them... give them the energy they need to promote rich, beautiful hair and prevent Trichorrhexis (dry rot).

Spray your hair with Marcelle Brillantine when you comb or dress it, and your hair will be beautiful. Its vegetable oils set and hold the wave... keep elusive strands in place. A MAN'S CHAIR

Undoubtedly the greatest golf course in this country is that of the Pine Valley Golf Club. This preeminence was achieved by the devotion and painstaking care of a distinguished group of men.

To the furnishings of their clubhouse they brought the same traits, and from their specifications of a perfect chair for men we designed this Danersk Pine Valley Chair—with just the right pitch of back, depth of seat and luxurious spring construction. With these elements of comfort we combined an interesting traditional design. The result is a chair appropriate for living rooms, clubs and gentlemen's studies of today.

Danersk Furniture comprises not only careful reproductions of historic examples, but also new designs in which the spirit of the past is retained.

Stock Land bank on trial for alleged violation of the banks stock for speculative purposes.

Huston, who said his parents were Scotch, said he was born in McDonough county, Illinois, 40 years ago. His parents came to Illinois in 1837. Their ancestors had arrived in America 200 years previously.

The question bringing out the ancestry of his parents brought objection from the government which in turn stirred the courtroom to laughter. Even Judge W. A. Cant smiled when James W. Wharton of prosecution counsel objected.

What difference does it make about the nationality of his parents? he queried. "He has gone back 100 years now."

Huston, who at the height of his career handled millions of dollars' worth of stock as local agent for the Joint stock land banks, told how he finished his education in a Chicago night school. At 18 he was actively connected with county banking and the farm mortgage field.

He became interested in joint stock land banks because of alleged abuses under the old farm mortgage system. Joining the directors of the Chicago Joint Stock Land bank, he took the first step in a career during which for eight years he was president of the association of joint stock land banks comprising 50 banks.

Facing an indictment accusing him of scheming to violate the regulations of the federal farm loan act, Huston denied the banks had ever received a set of general rules, saying the custom was for the bank officers to accept the authority of members of the federal farm loan board on interpretations of the rules.

Huston said he sought connection with the Southern Minnesota Joint Stock Land bank after hearing that southern Minnesota was rated as the best loan territory in America.

Let sound, vigorous health pave his road to success

OUR boys and girls grow up so quickly! Almost before we realize it, they are beyond our active guidance. That is why every opportunity to influence the child's habits is precious. Particularly must we carefully watch over their habits of eating. For upon what they eat, say doctors, depends largely their ability to achieve future happiness and success.

Doctors also tell us that of all foods none is more essential to child growth and health than good butter. In fact, practically all nutritional authorities have found, as have recent British Government tests, that butter surpasses all foods, save milk, in growth and health-building qualities. The reason lies not alone in the digestibility and high food value of good, pure butter.

Rather it seems to lie in those forms of energy called vitamins.

Some of these vitamins are known to have the power to make a child grow. Others, such as are in cod-liver oil, build strong bones and healthy bodies.

Butter made to meet the needs of children

Because pure, flavory Blue Valley supplies little bodies with an abundance of vitamins and other body building elements, it has long been recognized as an ideal butter for growing children.

But some mothers have not understood that there is a wide difference in butter. Butter can never be better than the care and methods that go into its making. And Blue Valley offers exceptional health qualities largely because it is made as only Blue Valley knows how.

Blue Valley learned years ago that to make a supremely fine butter required far more than a carefully selected and thoroughly pasteurized supply of fine cream. Good cream, though highly necessary, is only the beginning of good butter.

There must also be maintained the most sensitive and delicately balanced set of scientific methods, processes and formulae that have ever been known in the whole realm of modern food handling.

It was the further promotion of this scientific work that originally prompted Blue Valley to step ahead of all precedent and found the now famous Blue Valley Research Laboratories.

And when later Professor Otto F. Hunziker, a scientist of world fame in butter making, was secured as directing head, literally a new era was marked in the production of really fine butter.

You owe it to your children to try Blue Valley.

Note its delightful aroma, its marvelous uniformity, its wondrous flavor—a flavor that has won more women than any other butter flavor in America.

Best of all, Blue Valley's finer flavor—its greater purity and safety—are available at only trifling added cost. Blue Valley Creamery Company, 1187 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago. Telephone Monroe 7420.

Blue Valley creameries are models of cleanliness and sanitation. You are invited to visit them, any day.

LEWIS DEFENSE WITNESS BRIBED, STATE IS TOLD

Crowe Plans Grand Jury
Quiz Into Report.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Joseph Wagner, George Dymard, and William Pfeiffer, larceny, sentenced to 3 years each in the Bridewell by Judge Edmund Elin.

Samuel Harris, Harry Parker, and Owen Rankin, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge William V. Brothers.

Lee Goldfinch, burglary, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Patrick McManera, burglary, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge John F. McGoorty.

Evidence that Jacob Goldenberg, 1515 Carlisle place, termed the star witness for the defense in the trial of Harry J. (Lefty) Lewis for murder, had been bribed himself and attempted to bribe two state witnesses, was obtained yesterday afternoon by State Attorney Robert E. Crowe and will be made the basis by him, he announced, not only of the impeachment of Goldenberg's testimony but a grand jury investigation.

The new development in the trial came with startling suddenness just as Goldenberg had finished testifying that Lewis, a labor agent, did not shoot and kill Max Braverman, a junk peddler. Prosecutor Crowe was about to cross-examine the witness when a messenger arrived and whispered to Assistant State's Attorney Harold Levy. The message was from a group of Jewish peddlers gathered outside the courtroom. They had already testified for the state and positively identified Lewis as Braverman's murderer.

Message Tells of Money.

"The man Goldenberg, who just went into court, visited two state witnesses, Jack Schwartz and Abe Frost, a week ago and told them he was getting plenty of money for testifying for the defense," the message read.

"He said to them: 'I'll be able to retire to the country after this case. Why don't you testify for the defense and make some money?'"

Prosecutor Levy immediately left the court and interviewed Schwartz and Frost, verifying the message. When he returned and communicated his information to Prosecutor Crowe, the latter fired a series of questions at the witness in an attempt to make him admit that he had talked to Schwartz and Frost. Perspiring and visibly frightened, Goldenberg denied that he had made any attempt to influence the state's witnesses.

After Judge Stanley H. Klarowski had adjourned court, Mr. Crowe announced that not only would Schwartz and Frost take the stand and refute Goldenberg's testimony but that other witnesses would prove that Goldenberg was not at the scene of the crime and could not have testified to what happened there.

It was the second time during the trial that the state's attorney ordered an investigation of defense activities. Last week he appointed a special prosecutor, Edwin J. Raber, to conduct an inquiry into the disappearance of police statements from private files and their presence in the hands of the defense.

Goldberg, on direct examination, said that he was standing near the junk shop at 2448 West Roosevelt road last Aug. 24 when Lewis appeared. He ordered a number of peddlers to put on union buttons. As at a signal, a dozen peddlers armed themselves with bars of iron and other weapons and assaulted Lewis, the witness testified.

Goldberg didn't see who fired.

"Lewis was knocked to the ground and lay unconscious," said the witness. "Just then a shot was fired from a doorway nearby by some one I couldn't see. Braverman fell to the ground. Lewis didn't have a gun in his hand and he didn't fire the shot which killed Braverman."

This story was in direct opposition to the testimony of eight state witnesses. Mr. Crowe's cross-examination of the witness was interrupted repeatedly by the objections of Attorney Short, especially when the questions referred to Goldenberg's alleged bribery of Frost and Schwartz.

The trial at the afternoon session was delayed for an hour because the lock to the door of the cell in which Lewis was confined became jammed. The principal defense witness at the morning session was Bernard S. Garvey, 37 years old, 608 West 48th street, a truck salesman. Garvey said he was driving a sample truck in Roosevelt road the afternoon of the murder and that he witnessed an altercation in front of the Roosevelt road junk shop.

Garvey said that he saw Lewis run into the street, pursued by a number of junk men who were striking at him with bars of iron. The shot which killed Braverman was not fired by Lewis but came from a doorway nearby, he testified.

Under cross-examination, he became confused. He admitted that Lewis had covered his face with his hands and that he only got a glimpse of him, yet was able to identify the labor agent three months later.

CHARGE OF VOTE PROBE DELAY IS ATTACKED AS LIE

"Liar" and "Damn liar" were hurled at Special State's Attorney Charles Center Case at a meeting of the finance committee of the county board yesterday. The board was hearing a petition of the Chicago Bar association to get an appropriation for the prosecution by Mr. Case of election fraud cases.

President Anton J. Cermak and Commissioner John W. Gibson charged that the special prosecutor lied in a published statement to the effect that the officials were trying to block vote fraud prosecutions by holding up the requested appropriations.

Women Ask Appropriation.

Attending the session and speaking in behalf of the appropriation were representatives of the bar association, the Women's City club, the Citizens' association, and the League of Women Voters.

"The special state's attorney has attacked me and lied about me," President Cermak told the delegation. "He said I was lying awake nights trying to think up methods of delaying the fraud cases. He told about votes that were stolen for me but didn't mention votes that were stolen from me."

"You're mistaken, Mr. Cermak," Mr. Case replied.

"Did the newspapers misquote you?"

"No."

"Then you're a liar."

Gibson Adds Charge.

"I also want to give the lie to Mr. Case's newspaper statements," Commissioner Gibson interposed. "In the recount of ballots I lost much less votes than did other candidates."

"If the recount had been completed, you would have lost enough votes to cost you your office," Mr. Case commented.

"You're a damn liar," the commission retorted.

Action by the finance committee on the petition for an appropriation of $25,000 was deferred for two weeks. By that time, the county will be preparing next year's budget. President Cermak declined to say whether he will recommend that the budget provide funds for ballot fraud prosecutions.

THE wise man exercises good judgment in the expenditure of both time and money. He knows how to employ to the best advantage the numerous facilities of modern city life.

He never walks when he can save valuable time by riding. He never uses one conveyance when another will serve him as well or better at less cost.

Invariably he makes frequent use of street cars. He has learned that the Chicago Surface Lines serve every section of the city and that wherever there is business and community life, there is street car service.

He has discovered that when he goes by street car he is not required to watch other traffic, he need not worry about finding a place to park or the possibility of injury to his car while it is parked, and he makes the trip quickly and comfortably.

Moreover, the cost is only a small part of what it would be if he used his own automobile, and much less than if he used any other conveyance.

Seventy-five per cent of all local transportation is on the Surface Lines.

CARLSTROM AIMS PARTS AT SMALL IN FIRST SPEECH

Attacks Quo Warranto Act
as Ouster Relief.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Barrington, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—In opening his speaking campaign for the governorship here tonight, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom declared himself for the repeal of the quo warranto act passed by the last general assembly.

"That bill, exempting constitutional officers from quo warranto proceedings, was rushed through by Gov. Len Small's forces without denial of the charge that the purpose was to protect the governor from ouster proceedings based on his subsequent payment of $100,000 as interest due from his second term as state treasurer which expired ten years ago."

"I do not want to hold any office of trust and responsibility in my state, removal from which by orderly legal process is denied to the people. In any event I should commit a breach of trust or fail or refuse to perform my duty," said Attorney General Carlstrom.

Does Not Fear Arm of Law.
"I am one of those who believe when a duty is recognized, and an effort is made to perform it honestly, the occupant need have no fear of legal process."

From the viewpoint of news importance he would do it sent to the governor's chair would be to recommend that the legislature restore the quo warranto act to its original form stood far above other phases of the exemption of his platform made public when he announced himself several weeks ago as a candidate for the Republican nomination.

He went at length into his own record as attorney general, promised aggressive prosecution of the state hard road program, personal attention to the pardon and parole problem, action toward a revision of the state revenue system, and an honest attempt to meet the demand for senatorial reapportionment.

ment; but his treatment of the quo warranto act was taken as an indication that his campaign gradually may warm up until it is an anti-Small fight.

There were other hints of this possibility in his speech here, which was the big event of the opening day of his downstate tour and was warmly received by a good sized crowd brought together largely through the efforts of ex-service men.

Mr. Carlstrom started his invasion of Egypt with an early morning informal gathering at Grayville. An automobile cavalcade then carried him to Crossville and then to Carmi, the county seat of White county, where he spoke at noon. En route here he stopped at Norris City and Eldorado.

Apparent Slaps at Governor.
Other hints of hostility toward Gov. Small were seen in these extracts from the attorney general's speech:

"To me the governorship offers just now the greatest opportunity for constructive service that has appeared in Illinois for years. . . . I want to be governor to put that measure of decency and integrity into the administration of the office that will restore the confidence and respect of the people of Illinois for their government."

"I am heartily in favor of prosecuting the continued construction of the hard road program in Illinois as rapidly as it can be accomplished and as finances will permit. It is absurd to assume that the establishment of a dynasty in Illinois resting upon a crumbling and rotten foundation is required to assure the people the continuance of this great public improvement program."

Importance of Pardon System.
"While progress apparently is being made in the treatment of the pardon and parole situation in Illinois, it is still a question of great import. . . . I shall give personal attention to this . . . to improve further the conditions in this department of government which is so closely linked to the welfare, security and happiness of our people."

This is what Mr. Carlstrom said about senatorial reapportionment:

"I have repeatedly expressed my position in regard to the relation that ought to exist between the great city of Chicago and the remainder of the state."

"Several years of contact with the people in the city of Chicago and a wide acquaintance and knowledge of the people of the rest of the state have established beyond question in my consideration the similarity of the hopes, aspirations, objectives, and character of all our people whether they live within or without the city."

Reapportionment Required.
"We have and must continue to hold a common interest and pride in our state, its history, and its tremendous growth to a position of commanding influence in the nation, historically and economically."

"We can and must cooperate as a whole people for the interests of the state as a whole."

"The constitution of the state of Illinois provides for decennial reapportionment."

U. OF ILLINOIS BOASTS NATION'S BIGGEST R. O. T. C.

Numbers 3,372; Called
Best by Pershing.

By a Staff Correspondent.
Urbana, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The nation's largest reserve officers' training corps and the one which Gen. Pershing called the best of them all is that of the University of Illinois, which numbers 3,372 men, according to statistics announced today.

Being a "land grant" institution, the university is not only living up to the letter of the law that gave the school its original impetus, but to the spirit of the law as well.

In charge of the student brigade as instructors are twenty-one regular army officers and forty enlisted men. The military equipment, supplied by the government, represents an outlay of about $2,000,000. This does not include the armory, built and owned by the university.

Morrill Act Plan.
Under the plan contemplated by the government when the Morrill act was passed, a certain number of students each year were to be given military training in return for a grant of land from the government that would make possible the establishment of a university in each state. The gift of land was made contingent upon the continuance of military instruction for students.

Two years of training were provided for and naturally the two classes that would benefit most from the training would be the freshman and sophomore. Junior and senior students, well advanced in military work, serve as student officers of the brigade.

The grant to the state of Illinois was made in 1862.

Made Required Subject.
The state legislature later, in the law creating the University of Illinois, made military training a required subject for male students. The University, being founded five years after the land grant was made to the state, started out with the intention of adhering to the letter of the Morrill law.

As a result it is receiving from the state interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, on about $648,000 derived from the land grant.

In return, it is compulsory for every male student of the university under the age of 22 to register in courses of military training and to pursue this prescribed work for two years. This training includes both drill and military theory.

One colonel, one lieutenant colonel, four majors, ten captains and seven first lieutenants of the regular army are detailed as instructors at the schools. While these men are professional soldiers, they are not military fanatics.

Purpose of Training.
The purpose of the training is not to make soldiers but to inculcate the ideas of discipline and team work into a mass of young men at the period in their lives when it is most needed. The students who elect to continue the military training for the last two years of their university course do become soldiers capable of commanding others.

The biggest gain, however, to these student officers is the ability to lead men in any walk of life.

and quartermaster corps, the equipment is just as complete. The final two years' training, during which the student receives his real training as a soldier, is optional.

Upon graduation from the university and upon satisfactorily qualifying themselves in military training, these students are commissioned second lieutenants in the officers' reserve corps of the branch of service in which they received their university military training and are commissioned as brevet captains in the Illinois National Guard.

Building for Tomorrow

The name of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has gathered meaning with the years.

Today it is more than just the title of a big organization. It has come to be a synonym for service. It has come to stand for certain definite things—for dependable quality—for fair prices and fair dealing—for courtesy and friendliness.

Throughout the length and breadth of more than six hundred thousand square miles of territory this name is known and liked and depended upon.

It has taken years for the name of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to acquire its present significance in ten great states.

Good reputations are quickly shattered but slowly built. The mere rumor that a thing is bad is immediately broadcast, but it must be proved good before the news is spread.

The reputation which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) enjoys today is the achievement of painstaking effort and uncompromising standards over a long period of years.

Every employee of the 29,000 has had to go about his work with loyalty and earnestness and thoughtfulness for others. Every gallon of the millions sold by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has had to measure up to the standards it has set. Every quart of lubricating oil sold anywhere at any time in all its territory has had to "live up" to its reputation for excellence.

In building the kind of reputation for dependability which this Company has attained there can be no slip-up—anywhere—anytime—even in the smallest detail. Courtesy must be unflinching. Quality must be unvarying.

The present reputation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the result of yesterday's building. Tomorrow it will be held responsible for the deeds of today and future demands for its service will depend upon its present capacity to serve.

The primary interest of this Company is the service its products give, rather than the sale of the products.

It would not be profitable for this Company to concern itself primarily with profits—to be interested only in sales. The sales and the profits of the future will be in proportion to the satisfaction given by its products and its service in the past.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is not a one-generation business. Its work is too deeply rooted in human need. It has a larger perspective. Behind it stretches a past of which it is justly proud—before it a future for which it is building today a foundation of service deep, enduring and permanent.

ANNOUNCING

A strikingly new PIERCE-ARROW New in its every aspect!

THIS is the most momentous day in Pierce-Arrow's twenty-six years. It marks the arrival of the Pierce-Arrow 81—a new motor car which strikingly transcends all predecessors—which in beauty and performance incorporates significantly more than even Pierce-Arrow ever before offered.

Pierce-Arrow designers and engineers have reached into the future and made tomorrow's car an existing creation.

Its charm and symmetry—its distinctively Contimental atmosphere—its spirited lines and poise—render it irresistible to the eye.

Rich in interior appointments, as one naturally expects of a Pierce-Arrow, it will entice and thrill the most fastidious. Revolutionary in its responsiveness, it will instantly captivate the most critical driver.

Distinctively Pierce-Arrow, it is on all occasions, formal or otherwise, an unmistakable social asset. For Pierce-Arrow is and always has been the car of fine cars.

Like all Pierce-Arrow cars, it is generously roomy and luxuriously comfortable. It is in no sense a small car.

ADVISORY BOARD
TALKS CHANGES
DIAMOND CODEBarnard, Heydler
Confer with Landis.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Landis's advisory council, that peculiar establishment that was mythical as long as Ban Johnson was president of the American league, convened itself in the offices of Commissioner K. M. Landis yesterday and engaged in the tedious job of sorting out suggested amendments to the code under which the game operates. The club owners will vote on these when they meet next month.

Many hours of picking the bones of the not so good, the three men, President E. S. Barnard of the American league and John Heydler of the National, being the committee, associates, it was announced that a complete list of proposed alterations would not be ready for another twenty-four hours, but would be made public to indicate an effort to adopt to eliminate some of the troublesome points that have arisen within the last few years.

World Bar Hornsby Cases.

One of them involves a player working for one club while owning stock in another, this being the upshot of the case Hornsby transfer from St. Louis to the Giants. Another covered giving by a league or league president financial aid to a sister in distress unless the move is approved by the council. Such cases arose several times in the American league when the well was on the doorstep of certain clubs.

Hornsby acquired his stock in the St. Louis club while engaged here as player and manager. When he was transferred to the Giants inquisitive persons began to make wise cracks about the ethics of a player having a financial interest in a rival club. The official rule was that Hornsby promptly made affidavit to have Mr. Hornsby sell, but of the advice of counsel he pursued all reasonable offers. Finally the sale of appearance of the matter was settled so that Hornsby was in control of the stock. This matter probably will be definitely settled this winter.

From an Umpire's Glimpse.

A couple of the recommendations were the affairs of umpires. It has been customary for arbiters in smaller games occasionally to tip off a promising player to owners of a club in a bid of higher classification. Tips usually resulted in cash rewards, the tips given to college coaches or to those gentlemen who make a business of rustling up young talent, and of college, and inducing the league club to accept it. Under proposed amendment umpires would be prohibited from accepting pay for preliminary services. Another amendment would make it an offense for a club stockholder, manager or even owner to loan money to or endorse for an umpire.

CHURCH SELECTS
MILLS STADIUM
FOR TILDEN TILT

The championship game of the City of Chicago Football League probably will be played at Mills stadium Saturday afternoon. It was decided yesterday, after the north side champions, the Chicago Bears, had defeated the south side champions, the Chicago Cardinals, 14-0, and named the west side park, the site of the game. The selection of grounds for the league believe the stadium and the field will not accommodate the crowd. It is hinted that a new stadium may be made as Soldiers' field.

Two Jacks Will Draw Full
House When They Go to Court

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Nov. 14.—The great Dempsey-Kearns trial, known to the uplift profession as the Tattle of the Century because Mr. Jack Kearns has threatened to take the witness stand and tell all, will begin Wednesday in the United States District court at Newark, barring a settlement or further postponement. Instead of going forward Tuesday, the 15th, at Trenton, the date and place originally set.

The members of the profession in these parts have been liberally served with subpoenas, and there is great consternation because so many of the boys have a primitive idea that the paths of justice lead but to the rock pile. That is, a great many members of the profession have been in court from time to time, but only as defendants, and their entire experience leads them to believe that the innocent summons to appear and tell the truth, if possible, is the same thing as a warrant of arrest, which is not necessarily so in all cases.

One-Eyed Foresees Trouble.

Mr. One-Eyed Connelly, when last seen, expressed the sentiments of the profession when he stated that he never had had any luck in a courtroom and added that they would take him there only over his dead body.

Disgusts me very much.

Mr. Connelly said, "to see a couple of clean-living, impulsive boys threatening to tell the truth about each other the way Mr. Kearns and Mr. Dempsey are because they got along beautifully together for years and made a great deal of money without ever resorting to the truth. I hope something intervenes to avert the boys from their rash intentions because if you get a couple of interlopers when selling the truth about each other it will sound so strange that nobody will believe them and the government is likely to drop the latch on both of them for false testimony."

The possibility of an epidemic of truth in the uplift profession is quite disturbing in view of certain laboratory tests worked out by Mr. Abe Single-Tooth Yeager, the noted Broadway publicist, and explained in a scientific paper circulated among the profession today.

"I have discovered," Doctor Yeager announced, "that a general outbreak of this evil in the prize fight profession would be ruinous, not only to the ideals and ethics of the profession, but to business as well.

"For instance, let us take the most elementary case. We will suppose that we have a couple of heavyweight bums matched for a 15 round boxing contest, and we will further suppose that one bum is Pierre Paluqua, the heavy-weight champion of Belgium. The other bum is just some bum from one of the stimulant boats on the Jersey shore.

MAROONS DODGE
GRID DRILL TO TACKLE EXAMSGreenebaum Injured; Out of Badger Game.

With retrospect of the 1927 football season almost as damp as the weather, University of Chicago athletes yesterday were seized with an epidemic of scholastic vigor. As a result half of the Maroons didn't get out to practice at all and those in uniform spent a great deal of their time discussing impending examinations.

Prospect of meeting Wisconsin in the season's curtain game on the Midway is said to carry less occasion for thrilled anticipation than usual, particularly since the usually feared Badgers proved a pushover for the long suffering Hawkeyes Saturday.

The one cause of happiness was the appearance at practice of Capt. Ken House.

House Back in Drill.

Capt. Ken, around whom Maroon fortunes center both on attack and on defense, turned out spry after he has been since before the Michigan battle and will be in condition to play against the Illinois in his weakened condition would have rendered him useless for the remainder of the season and end all Maroon hopes of beating Wisconsin in the final game.

Practically the only member of the Maroon team who suffered much at the hands of the Illinois was Ben Greenebaum, former guard, who was shifted to center to fill in the vacancy caused by House's injury. Greenebaum started the game with his right arm in a steel splint.

On the first play the Maroons sprung on offense, Greenebaum broke the thumb of his left hand, and the only one with which he could pass the ball from center. He continued to play almost three full quarters, passing the ball with four fingers of his left hand and making tackles with one arm. He left the game in bad shape and joined the squad of gridlers definitely out for the season.

Battle Froth Today.

With a full squad due on the field today, Stagg will open his first real day of drill for Wisconsin. A second freshman team has been working more than two weeks on Badger plays, and these will be put in practice during the last nine weeks, but in seemingly important crisis they forget all they know about this important phase of the game.

So last night became a miscellany of other practice tactics which followed the just tackled and tackled and tackled for a solid hour. It was this lack of tackling that Coach Dick Hanley thought lost the Indiana game for them. The back field violators were especially flagrant. They didn't leave their feet at times when by doing so they might have brought down the runner on many of the Hoosiers' long runs.

Moving pictures of the game bear out this point, especially on Harrell's long run, wherein four Purple players were within whispering distance of him, but never left their feet to nab him.

Henry Anderson, Arnold Karsten, and Wadsworth Fisher were the three players absent from the drill. Marcus S. Hobart, the team's constantly attending physician, fears that Anderson, a first string guard, is through for the season as is Karsten. Anderson received a kick in the teeth in Saturday's game that knocked all of his lower front teeth loose, and necessitated the taking of stitches in his lower lip.

The Purple's first string backfield worked together last night for the first time since the Purdue game, and Coach Dick Hanley said afterwards that unless one of them should be "taken for a ride" or meet with similar fate before game time, all four would line up at the kickoff.

Loughran Whips McCarthy in Ten Round Match

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—(U.P.)—Tommy Loughran, recognized by Pennsylvania boxing authorities as the world's light heavyweight champion, battled his way to a judges' decision in 10 rounds over Pat McCarthy of Boston at the Arena tonight. The fight was full of action with Loughran doing most of the leading. Loughran weighed 175, McCarthy 154.

CLEVER

Sammy Mandell, world's 135 pound dancing master, who tonight will try to show Chicago why he's champion.

Wildcats Hope
Iowa Is Team
They Can Beat

Northwestern has laid aside its slogan, "When worse defeats are suffered N. U. will suffer them" and now has ideas that it would be a good thing to close the season with a victory over Iowa.

This notion gained much headway in Evanston yesterday that a stiff practice was held, thus violating the widespread custom of taking it easy on Monday afternoons.

All but three of the once proud Wildcats were able to be among those present as the final week of practice was opened and the big squad spent a rainy afternoon tackling. They've been tackling a lot in practice during the last nine weeks, but in seemingly important crisis they forget all they know about this important phase of the game.

So last night became a miscellany of other practice tactics which followed the just tackled and tackled and tackled for a solid hour. It was this lack of tackling that Coach Dick Hanley thought lost the Indiana game for them. The back field violators were especially flagrant. They didn't leave their feet at times when by doing so they might have brought down the runner on many of the Hoosiers' long runs.

MYERS PITS HARD PUNCH AGAINST
MANDELL'S SPEEDHopes to Stop Champ at Coliseum Tonight.

Sammy Mandell, the world's light-weight champion, and Spug Myers of Pocatello, Idaho, will meet in the main event of Joe Coffey's boxing show at the Coliseum tonight. The title will not be at stake because Myers is a channel make 135 pounds, the title weight. They must scale 137 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

It will be Mandell's first appearance in Chicago since he won the championship on a ship from Rocky Kansas at the White Sox baseball park a year ago last July. When the Myers match was made, Mandell wanted to toss his title into the ring, but Spug admitted he could not make the weight and still be strong enough to go ten rounds at a fast clip.

Myers Hard Puncher

Although the prevailing opinion is that Mandell will win, Myers is given an outside chance. A few years ago Sammy met Frankie Garcia aboard the Commodore at the foot of Randolph street. Mandell was winning off by himself until the fifth round, when Garcia, a hard right hand hitter, connected with a right swing and Sammy took a nine count.

Myers can hit as hard as Garcia if not harder. He is aggressive and will make a fight out of it in every round. He mixes his punches by shooting both hands to the stomach and then to the face.

Mandell Looks Fit.

Mandell will depend largely upon his left hand, which gave him the victory over Kansas. He is hitting harder with his right and will cross it to Spug's face, and body whenever he has an opportunity. The champion has made a hit with the fans who have seen him train for this fight.

Al Foreman of Washington, D. C., and Frankie Pink of Texas will meet in the ten round semi-main event at 130 pounds. Ernie Peters of Chicago and Blas Rodriguez of Cuba will be the principals in another ten rounder while Pete Bruce of Rockford and Billy Shivers of St. Paul will clash in the six round opener.

The first bout will go on at 8:15 o'clock.

MARTINEZ WHIPS
DIVODI TO EARN
BOUT FOR TITLE

New York, Nov. 14.—(U.P.)—Hilario Martinez, Spanish junior welterweight, earned a title match with "Mushy" Divodi by winning the decision over Andy Divodi of Brooklyn in a ten round bout tonight. Martinez weighed 144, Divodi 142. Martinez was the aggressor all the way and except for the fourth and fifth rounds was never in danger. The Spaniard kept pumping a steady stream of body blows into Divodi at close range.

Divodi knocked Martinez down with a right to the jaw in the fifth round, but Hilario was up without a count. Andy was unable to follow up his advantage and Martinez finished the round strong.

Chicago Owned Dogs Win Prizes in Milwaukee Show

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Two Chicago dog fanciers received first prizes today for their exhibits in the fourteenth annual dog show of the Wisconsin Kennel Club. Mrs. Frank Charleston took first place in the toy dog class with Gold Speck Bonny; and Mrs. Benny Turner Mathews won a blue ribbon with her terrier, Lump of Osterberg. The grand champion of the show was Claus von Sigolburg, a Doberman pincher, belonging to E. J. Robinson, Milwaukee.

Proviso Eyes
Morton as 8th
Grid Victim

The Morton High school football team, able to hold its own with most prep eleven, is drilling harder than ever this week and is regarding next Saturday's game at Cicero with great anxiety. And right they have to be uneasy, for the Cicero boys are to play Proviso, that whirlwind team from Maywood which has amassed more than 200 points in winning seven successive games against the best eleven in the Chicago district.

When the season started the possibility of playing against Proviso did not throw rival teams into a panic, but since the Maywood boys have run wild scoring 215 points and allowing their opponents 13, there are few teams anxious to try conclusions with Coach Tubby Theibert's aggregation of giants who treat all opponents alike.

Guard Weighs 240.

With two guards weighing more than 200 pounds in addition to other big men, the Proviso line averages 175 pounds. Few prep teams boast lines averaging more than 150 or 160.

Fred Fliege, 6 feet 4 inches and weighing 170 pounds, and Leslie Klappholz, 6 feet 3 and about the same weight, are the ends. Henry Hardt, 175, and Ferney are the tackles with Floyd Wroblek, 155, at center. The two behemoths of the line are Grover Wickenden, weighing a mere 240 pounds, and Elmer Leutke, 10 pounds lighter, who take care of the guard positions.

Johnson Elusive Back.

The back field, one of the best that has been gathered together on a prep gridiron, is led by Art Schultz, a hard hitting, fast half back of 170 pounds. His running mate, Roy Johnson, 165, has not been stopped this season. James Guy, 180 pound full back, and William Murray, 155 pound quarter back, complete the back field.

Tunney Returns to New York; May Break with Tex

New York, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—Gene Tunney returned to the city today from his vacation in the Adirondacks in open rebellion against plans to promote Tex Rickard has in view for next summer, involving the fighting marine and his world's heavyweight title.

Denying there as yet existed any break between himself and the Madison Square Garden promoter, Tunney held out no guarantee that there would not be a definite break unless Rickard revised his program more equitably to conform with the views of the champion himself.

ILLINOIS CAN WIN
FLAGBY VICTORY
OVER OHIO STATEGophers See Chance for Championship.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Tape will be sounded for the 1927 Western conference football season on Saturday when Illinois and Minnesota, leading contenders for the Big Ten title, will meet Ohio State and Michigan, respectively. These struggles will command the attention of the football world as Illinois and Minnesota, although held to tie scores, rank among the undefeated eleven of the country.

Illinois, one of the finest balanced eleven ever developed by Coach Zuppke, will meet the Buckeyes at Columbus. It will be homecoming for the Scarlet and Gray and Coach Wiley's players will try hard to send the old grads on their homeward journey rejoicing over a victory.

If Illinois wins this game, it will be entitled to the Big Ten championship. The only blemish on the Orange and Blue record is the tie game with Ames, which is not a member of the Western conference. That battle went a long way towards making Illinois the power it is today. The players realized after that game that in team play rested their chance for winning games.

This team balance should assert itself more than ever on the week-end. The team has developed with each game and should be at peak form when it faces the Buckeyes.

Gophers Need Victory.

Minnesota, which was held to a tie score by Indiana, and Michigan should engage in a brilliant battle at Ann Arbor. The Wolverines decide victory over the Navy last Saturday indicates the team is showing wonderful improvement since the defeat by Illinois.

The Gophers must win this game to lay any claim to the Big Ten title. It is the best Minnesota eleven developed in many years. It has tremendous power both in the line and back field. It has an effective forward passing attack and a straight offense which may give Michigan trouble. The line crashing ability of Capt. Joesting is well known in the Michigan camp and coaches are concentrating this week on a defense to stop the Gopher leader.

Saturday's game will be the last in Michigan togs for Capt. Benny Costerbaan and Louis Gilbert, Michigan's great forward pass combination. This pair has been chiefly responsible for Maine and Blue victories this year and neither will leave anything undone to end his intercollegiate career with victory.

Wisconsin, which received an unexpected defeat by Iowa last Saturday, will meet Chicago on Stagg field in the closing game for both teams. The Badgers have been defeated by Maine, Minnesota and Iowa, while Chicago lost to Ohio State, Michigan and Illinois.

Iowa Looks Formidable.

Northwestern will meet Iowa at Evanston and Coach Hanley and his Purple clad warriors have a harder battle on their hands than was expected earlier in the season. Iowa's victory over Wisconsin will help to fire the Hawkeyes for a great battle at Evanston. Northwestern's defeat by Indiana makes necessary for the team to take a strong brace. The team hopes of a victory are to be entertained in Evanston.

Purdue and Indiana will engage in an interesting struggle at Bloomington. In some ways this contest reminds one of the annual Army-Navy battles. The better team does not always win. The players always fight to the limit of their endurance and nothing is held in reserve. The teams appear evenly matched this season and are much stronger than usual.

In the east the annual struggle between Yale and Harvard at Cambridge is being held in earnest. Old Eli will enter the game a strong favorite because of its victory over Dartmouth, which defeated Harvard by a commanding margin.

Notre Dame at Drake.

Notre Dame will invade the Missouri Valley to meet Drake at Des Moines. Notre Dame will meet Southern California in Chicago on Nov. 24, and Coach Rockne will be satisfied with a victory by any score at Drake.

Porthole, 3 Year Old

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 14.—(U.P.)—A sale of 135 thoroughbred horses held here today realized $278,575, an average of $2,063. Col. F. T. Chinn's Hymus stud consigned all but eight. C. E. Darnell paid high price of $27,800 for Porthole, 3 year old chestnut filly by Man o' War-Shady. Darnell also paid $9,500 for Fatima II, dam of the yearling colt which brought $70,000 at Saratoga in August.

Hawks Open Season
in Boston.

FRANK SCHREIBER.

National Hockey league, the organization of the ice sport, opens tonight. Five games, which bring all of the teams of the league into action, are scheduled.

The Black Hawks, Chicago's entry in the championship race, open their 44 game schedule at Boston. The New York Rangers play at Toronto; Detroit meets Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh; Montreal meets the Montreal Canadiens at Montreal; and the Americans at Madison Square Garden, New York.

Of the teams of the league have strengthened. Ottawa, which was eliminated in the championship last year, is standing pat on its own lineup with the exception of a few young stars who probably will be held as substitutes.

Stanley is in Detroit as Manager.

The Hawks probably have the greatest change. Last year the Hawks reached the playoff for the championship, but in the final round they were eliminated in their first two games.

In the spring, Maj. Frederic McMillan, president of the Hawks, made several shifts in his team's lineup. The first step was the signing of Russell (Barney) Stanley as a player and manager. Last year Stanley was a veteran hockey player and manager. Last year he was eliminated in their first two games.

Stanley added to the Black Hawks' speed include Martin Wenstrom, who played last year with the American league club; Chuck Corbett, the diminutive goalie sent down from Winnipeg; Nick Wasmieleski, also purchased from the American league; and a team forward line composed of Dick Irvie, Gordon Fraser, and Mickey McLean.

The Hawks have been in practice on the ice for more than a month, having their early training at Winnipeg. Practice games, one with Minnesota and one at Duluth, also were played during the preliminary drill.

Nov. 22 is the home opening date for the Hawks. Ottawa Senators will meet the opposition on the Coliseum.

Delaney Takes Sharkey's Place Against Heeney

Baltimore, Conn., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Delaney will meet Tom Heeney, Tex Rickard's heavyweight eliminator, tomorrow night, replacing Jack Sharkey of Boston, who today was released from a fractured skull, according to an announcement from tonight.

International Body Split by Skating War

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—After unseating the Michigan delegation and Allan F. Blanchard of Chicago, four sectional skating associations forced a dissolution of the International Skating union, for years governing body of the sport, at the annual meeting today.

These four associations—the Middle Atlantic, Michigan, Minnesota, and New England associations—formed a new organization, the Amateur Skating Union of America, which will attempt to take over control of skating in this country. Opposed to them is the group composed of the Western, Pennsylvania, Adirondack, Frontenac, St. John, New Brunswick, and Ohio associations, organized under the old name of the International Skating union. In all probability the fight will be taken before the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic union at Cincinnati next week.

The new war began in a fight to unseat Blanchard, founder and father of the skating association, who for years has held the honorary presidency of the union, together with the delegation from Michigan. Frank M. Kaltefleiter and Edward A. Mahlik, officers of the Western Skating association, put up a bitter fight for Blanchard, but were defeated, and at the same time the Frontenac Skating association of Quebec was voted out.

With these delegates not voting, the old association was dissolved and the new Amateur Skating union organized. After that the seven associations opposed determined to carry on under the old name.

Frank M. Kaltefleiter of Chicago was named president of the International Skating union. Mel Cravens of Detroit, first vice president; H. W. Aalene, Frontenac Winter Sports association, Quebec, second vice president; John Gourley of Cleveland, third vice president, and Ben Giffen of Pittsburgh, secretary and treasurer. Chicago was chosen as next year's meeting place.

Purdue Favored to Defeat Indiana for Oaken Bucket

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Why should those Hoosier boys from what in the Chicago and Wisconsin games. A week ago Saturday Cotton and Purdue got together for the first time in a conference game against Northwestern. And what a joy they were to the hearts of football enthusiasts, except those from Northwestern, and even disappointed Purdue observers voiced admiration for the duo. Cotton came up with all the stuff that dazzled the Big Ten in 1926 and his presence obviously had a steadying effect on the giant Texan. Both roared Saturday and are raring to put on a point-a-minute show at Bloomington. And they aren't all for Wilson, Miller, Leitche, Guthe and Koransky are among the best backs Purdue ever has had and all are ready for the big battle. And the line, built around Olsen, a Chicago boy, is just about as powerful as the Old Gold and Black has had for a couple of decades.

Both Are on Edge. This year finds both universities represented by strong teams, and both coaches, Pat Page of Indiana university and Jimmy Phelan of Purdue, right now have their lads at the peak of the season's efficiency. Purdue would seem to have an edge on the Hoosiers. But does never count in a Purdue-Indiana game. Many fairly calm Purdue followers believe that the Boilermakers, in their present state, are the best club in the Big Ten. This, of course, is based on the ability of Coach Phelan to finally get his two stars, Capt. Cotton Wilcox and Tex Welch, working jointly for a common cause. And there's no denying that, working together, they are about the hottest pair any one can name.

Wilcox, as all football followers know, was knocked out in Purdue's first game of the year. The following Saturday Welch, without the inspiration of his captain ran rings around Harvard and was widely hailed as "the new Grange." But Tex, a sophomore, and boyishly overbearing to sustain his reputation, blew up some.

Indiana established an attendance record at Memorial stadium at the Minnesota game, beat it when Notre Dame played at Bloomington and expects to set a new record with 25,000 Saturday.

Bradley Leads Little 19 Grid Conference

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—[U. P.]—Bradley Tech was well on its way to a third successive Little Nineteen conference championship today as practice started for the game with Eureka in Peoria Saturday.

This game will give Bradley a breathing spell before the Thanksgiving game with Millikin at Decatur. The Decatur eleven may prove a stumbling block in the path of the title mad techmen and Coach Robertson of Bradley will devote much time in pointing his charges to this tussle with the Blue eleven.

U. OF GEORGIA LEADS UNBEATEN FOOTBALL TEAMS

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The University of Georgia not only leads the parade of undefeated football teams but has the best defensive record of any of a group of nine major college eleven in the unbeaten class. The Georgia Bulldogs have yielded only 11 points in seven games, ten of these being scored by Yale and the other three by Alabama Poly.

Pittsburgh's powerful Panthers are the high scorers of this select group, with 249 points in eight games. All, except Georgia, have experienced at least one tie. The records of these teams:

	Won.	Lost.	Ties.	Points.
Georgia	7	0	0	202 15
Pittsburgh	7	0	0	249 20
Wash. & Jeff.	7	0	1	145 15
Tennessee	7	0	1	225 20
Texas A.M.	7	0	1	104 25

Woods and Waters

by BOB BECKER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Upper Illinois River, Nov. 14.—Hunting prairie chickens on the private shooting preserve belonging to Frank Collins is the nearest thing to a Dakota chicken expedition that we have ever seen. The sweep of rolling brown tinted prairie with few fences; one lone windmill creaking as the wind speeds its fan; a small herd of short-horns barely visible on the horizon; and a two horse wagon rolling through the long grass. The entire atmosphere of the hunt gives you the impression that you are a long way from northern Illinois.

Again we used Queen, the Irish water spaniel, to tip us off on the location of a covey. With the dog in front, four of us in line, hiked across the prairie, guns ready.

Bill Hart opened up the fireworks.

There was a roar of wings, and we saw a pair of birds trying to angle away to our left. Bill nailed the one closest to him, and we downed another. For a minute or two chickens popped out of the grass like jacks out of a box and everybody burned powder to down their birds.

Porky came up and handed us his 12 gauge double gun, as we had only four 16 gauge shells, and our ammunition was burned up quickly. This left Porky without a gun and resulted in a bit of snappy comedy, as Porky on my right flushed a cock which sailed away to his right and slightly back of our line. He took one look at us pivoting to try a long shot, made an unceremonious flop, and buried his head in the grass while we turned to take quick aim at the then distant bird. Our rapid fire strategy was a success as down went Mr. Prairie Chicken.

AUTO INDUSTRY NOW AN ADULT, ECONOMIST SAYS

BY HARPER LEECH.

The automobile is adult. The motor industry has come of age—so the financial nurses of the lusty giant were told yesterday, when Milan V. Ayres, economist addressed 500 delegates representing 300 finance companies in the annual convention of their national association.

But the nurses are not fired. They will have to help sell an annual increment of 1.75 per cent of new cars to new owners—Mr. Ayres believes—based on that estimate on the 1.6 per cent, compounded annually, rate of increase of the American population and the usual rate of gain for the American living standard.

Sale of new cars to new owners reached peak in 1923, and the business of installment financing also has come of age.

Mr. Ayres advised his hearers to diversify their business. Replacement demand for automobiles alone will call for 2,250,000 new cars per year. Motor business will be very brisk, indeed, in the first months of 1928, he thinks, because of the release of the pent up demand held back by curiosity as to the new flivver. The rate of replacement heretofore has been very largely determined by "obsolescence," rather than actual wearing out.

On Jan. 1 last year only 30 per cent of cars made had four wheel brakes. The new Ford will stimulate replacement demand, because its advent will make about 80 per cent of existing automobiles "out of date" as to brakes, at least. For a time we will have a considerable shortening of the "life" of cars, due to stimulated scrapping of cars left over from the great outputs of 1922 and 1923. Rapid improvements in cars and the increased demand for style have stimulated scrapping of late, so that the average number of registrations of cars scrapped now is between 8 and 7, as compared to eight registrations for cars scrapped in 1925.

Back in 1912 and 1913 cars scrapped had been registered an average of only 5 times. This lengthening of the life of cars by better roads and better engineering and materials in their manufacture will be resumed after the present peak of obsolescence is passed. Manufacturers will, of course, strive to make improvements and changes, but unless these are very radical they will add more to the length of life of cars than they will accelerate obsolescence and scrapping. Because of the great replacement demand just ahead, due to the intensity of the obsolescence factor, as affecting the cars of 1922, 1923, and 1924 vintage, and cheap cars of later years, domestic automobile demand ought to be better in 1928 than in either 1927 or 1928, Mr. Ayres thinks.

The reflecting of the coming of age of the automobile industry, the increased importance of replacement demand and the reaction from efforts to force sales, is seen, Mr. Ayres thinks, in the decline of the percentage of cars sold on the installment plan as follows: 75.5 per cent in 1925, 70 per cent in 1926, and 60.8 per cent in 1927 so far.

The average direct loss of automobile finance companies on repossessed cars decreased in 1927 as compared to 1926. Terms have been standardized, things tightened up, and the "balloon note" evil about eradicated, C. C. Hand, general manager of the association, reported.

Farm and Garden

Truckers who have a lot of time left on their hands after the regular growing season is over should try forcing rhubarb and selling it in Chicago. Rhubarb is one of the most popular crops grown in the commercial and home gardens, but the normal season is entirely too short. It is a universally liked garden product and consumers do not grow tired of it as they do many other crops.

In collecting information on rhubarb as a winter forcing plant, C. E. Sayre, author of a new publication issued by the University of Illinois, found that in a farmers' retail public market in a medium sized Illinois city it was not unusual for growers to sell more than 1,000 pounds of forced rhubarb in a single day. He said the only competition is rhubarb from California, coming onto Illinois markets in March. But Illinois rhubarb growers need not fear the Pacific coast competition, because the forced rhubarb can be produced earlier in the winter and is considered of superior quality.

This is the time of year to lay plans for winter forcing of rhubarb and interested truckers should write for Sayre's bulletin giving the essential steps. Sayre gives results of investigations with different forcing temperatures, the effect of watering the roots on the yield and color, the best age of roots for forcing, the effect of different intensities of freezing and different lengths of freezing periods in breaking the rest period and increasing yields, and the length of the rest period needed to produce maximum yields.

RUMOR DURANT WILL FORM $100,000,000 AUTO MERGER

New York, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—William C. Durant, president of Durant Motors, Inc., who was largely responsible for the organization of the General Motors corporation, is described in reports widely circulated in Wall street today as the moving spirit in a plan for a new automobile combination, with a capitalization that may exceed $100,000,000 and that may bring together a group of companies, including Moon Motors, Chrysler Motors, Gardner Motor, Hupmobile, Jordan Motor, Peerless Motor, and Star Motor.

The Hupp company, according to the reports heard in Wall street, is to be the nucleus of the combination.

Foreign Services

You Don't Expect A Bank To Have

The Foreign Department of Central Trust Company provides far more than the usual financial services for Chicago exporters and importers. For instance:

It is prepared to give you authentic information concerning the responsibility of foreign concerns.

It will share with you all of its data concerning foreign markets for American goods.

It will furnish you with quick information regarding foreign tariffs and customs.

It knows the approved methods of packing and shipping goods for export and will pass these methods on to you.

Use these services—without cost. They are part of our contribution to the development of Chicago as a greater export center.

Mr. John F. Queney, President of the Company has summarized his letter to us as follows:

Business: Monsanto Chemical Works, incorporated under the laws of Missouri in 1901, is the largest manufacturer in the United States of fine and medicinal chemicals and an important producer of heavy or technical chemicals. It is not only well established in the domestic market, but through its associated English company is also competing successfully with European manufacturers in the foreign markets of the world. Its products, which embrace a wide variety of diversified items, constitute a basic part of many every-day essentials.

Financial: The audited balance sheet of the Company as of September 30, 1927, giving effect to this financing, shows current and working assets of $2,132,409 against total current liabilities of $294,898, or net current and working assets of $1,837,511. Net tangible assets after deduction of reserves and all liabilities aggregate $4,965,811, equivalent to $45.14 a share of the 110,000 shares of authorized and outstanding capital stock.

The Company's fixed properties are carried on the books of the Company and shown in this balance sheet at cost for the buildings, machinery and equipment, less depreciation, and at appraised value, as of December, 1923, for the land. An independent appraisal of the buildings, machinery and equipment, as of January 15, 1924, showed a value of over $2,000,000 more than the depreciated book value, equivalent to more than $18 a share additional.

It is intended that application will be made to list this stock on the Chicago Stock Exchange and the New York Curb.

This stock is offered for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of legality by counsel. It is expected that delivery will be made in the first instance in the form of interim receipts.

A NEW and BETTER WAY

BECAUSE life insurance money in the hands of inexperienced beneficiaries so often fails of its purpose, we find men of affairs deeply interested in our PROTECTED Life Insurance Trust.

There are outstanding advantages in the adoption of this plan with the Chicago Title & Trust Company as trustee. Of particular importance—our $2,000,000 special reserve fund definitely protects principal and interest against loss.

It costs you nothing to arrange a Protected Life Insurance Trust. A reasonable charge is made for administering the funds when paid to us by the insurance company. Come in and consult our Trust Officers, or write for booklet "PROTECTED LIFE INSURANCE TRUSTS."

HOGS SELL LOWER; CATTLE PASS $18 MARK

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

HOGS.
Dec. 15, 1927, 187,015,000 lbs. on Sept. 1, 1927, 179,126,000 lbs. Nov. 1, 1927, and 73,365,000 lbs. Nov. 1, 1926. This is the first time the supply of hogs has been below the same period a year earlier, since July, 1926.

Several loads of hogs passed the $18.00 line on a bulge of the market yesterday, with prime 1,417 lb. hogs, which had been a year establishing a new top of $18.25, against $17.85 the previous Monday. Best steers sold within a range of $10.50 to $11.25, bulking at $12.00 to $12.50, against a range of $7.35 to $9.15 a year ago, and $7.00 to $7.50 two years ago. Some 1,100 lb. averages brought $11.00. Better grades scored advances of 10¢ to 25¢, with others steady to slightly lower. Butcher stock met fair action at last week's quotation. Calves ruled steady to 25¢ lower.

Increased sheep receipts in face of a slow movement of dressed lamb forced prices down 25¢ to 50¢ yesterday, wet fleeces adding to the depression. An advance estimate of only 9,000 for today, was a strengthening influence late and a number of lambs to packers reached $13.75, against a top of $12.50 at the start. Aged and yearling sheep sold steady. Lambs on hand in Colorado are reported as being 700,000 more than a year ago and about equal to the average of the four winters preceding last winter. The "boycott" of Colorado and Nebraska feeder buyers on the range a year ago was responsible for last winter's supply being below normal in these two states.

WHEAT DECLINES HERE, ADVANCES IN ARGENTINA

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Spreading operations in wheat between Chicago and Winnipeg furnished the bulk of the trade west. There was, however, an absence of the aggressive short covering and commission house buying as shown Saturday. Prices sagged, with the close at net losses of 1/4¢, with December $1.71 1/2 and March $1.70 1/2. Corn was off 1/4¢, the former on December, which finished at $2 1/2, and the latter at $2 1/4. Oats rose 1/4¢, while the wheat was 1/4¢ higher. There was a sharp upturn in wheat at one time during the day on short covering, induced by a strong turn at Winnipeg, but the latter market weakened later and closed at net losses of 1/4¢, and many of the locals here who covered on the bulks put out lines again on the way down. Houses with Winnipeg connections were buyers here, against sales in Canadian market. Export demand was slow in all positions, with sales finally estimated at 200,000 to 300,000 bu.

Weather conditions in the southern hemisphere were favorable for the new wheat crop. At the same time Buenos Aires showed a firmer undertone and closed unchanged to 1/4¢ higher, while Rosario was 1/4¢ higher. The Argentine market was 1/4¢ higher, with December $1.27 1/2 and March $1.27 1/2. The latter market going to a premium for the first time, although harvesting was reported under way in the extreme north.

An increase of 2,000,000 bu in the domestic visible had some effect on sentiment, as it raised the total to 90,783,000 bu, the largest amount at this season of the year since the war, and compared with 72,626,000 bu last year. Weather in the American and Canadian north was unfavorable. Liverpool closed 1/4¢ higher, due to a better milling demand, and is now 1/4¢ higher, based on the action of Chicago during the day, and 1/4¢ higher, based on Winnipeg.

Corn prices held within relatively narrow limits, but the undertone was easier, with buying against bids a factor in checking the decline. Little attention was paid to the forecast for rain or snow over the entire belt. Movement of new corn is increasing with receipts here around 40 cars out of a total of 131 cars of all kinds. The spot basis was steady to 1/4¢ higher. Bulk of trade was of a local character. Visible supply increased 160,000 bu for the week, and is 22,400,000 bu, against 22,273,000 bu last year. There was some miller's interest in the Argentine market, but higher at 1/4¢, or 1/4¢ over Kansas City.

BIG COTTON CONSUMPTION

Consumption of cotton in the United States in October was 812,035 bales, against 868,141 bales last year. Consumption of lint was 73,193 bales, against 75,001 bales last year. Stocks held in consumers hands on Oct. 31 were 1,357,000 bales, against 1,215,190 bales last year. Exports in October, including lint, were 1,250,000 bales, against 1,340,820 bales last year. Held in public stores and consumption Oct. 31 were 46,514 bales, against 47,671 bales last year. Spots were 55 points lower in New York at 50.00¢, and 50 points lower in New Orleans at 19.50¢. Houston was 19.50¢, and Galveston 19.50¢. Trade sentiment at the last was more friendly to the buying side on breaks. Prices follow:

Hiding Place

Property is the favorite hiding place of profit and loss. Facts as to the accuracy of property charges to capital, expense, depreciation and maintenance are revealed by American Appraisal Service. Profit or loss is driven from its hiding place.

Are you using a shotgun or a rifle to reach the Boston Market?

WHERE the Boston market seems to be—and where it actually is, are two different things.

Boston seems to be a scattered trading area 30 miles wide. Actually Boston's buying group is concentrated in a Key Market within 12 miles of Boston's City Hall. In this 12-mile area live 388,000 families with an average per capita wealth of over $9,000 each. The greatest concentration of population and buying power in New England!

From this area the Boston department stores draw three-quarters of their total business. Here the retail outlets of every description are most numerous and most prosperous.

Success in the Boston Market comes through recognizing these facts and by sales effort at the heart of the market instead of stretching it to cover the unprofitable fringes.

Here is where the Globe concentrates

TO reach this Key Market, advertisers must use the Globe. In this area the Sunday Globe leads all other papers in circulation. And the daily Globe's circulation exceeds the Sunday Globe. It is the only Boston paper that holds its circulation in the metropolitan area seven days out of the week.

Boston's shrewdest merchants, the department stores, recognize this by placing more advertising in the Globe—both daily and Sunday—than in any other Boston paper.

The reason for this day in and day out hold upon its readers is that the Globe appeals to all classes of Boston people—regardless of race, creed or political affiliation.

Men read the Globe because it gives them the most comprehensive sporting page in Boston—impartial editorial discussions—the facts in general news, free from bias.

Women find in the Globe a Household Department that is the oldest in America and contains many of the most popular features in the newspaper world.

These people form Boston's buying group. To reach them the Globe must be the backbone of every Boston advertising campaign.

Boston's 12-Mile Area contains the greatest concentration of people and wealth in New England. Successful sales and advertising efforts concentrate first upon selling this key territory. Here the retail outlets of every description are most numerous and prosperous.
